

CONTENTS

Contributors / v

Introduction / ix

CONTRIBUTIONS

Yrjö Kaukiainen, "International Freight Markets in the 1830s and 1840s:
The Experience of a Major Finnish Shipowner" / 1

Edward W. Sloan, "The First (and Very Secret) International Steamship Cartel, 1850-1856" / 29

Robert G. Greenhill, "Competition or Co-operation in the Global Shipping Industry: The Origins and Impact of the Conference
System for British Shipowners before 1914" / 53

William D. Wray, "National Alliances and Global Webs: The Internationalization of Japanese Shipping" / 81

Jochen Bläsing and Ton Langenhuyzen, "Dutch Sea Transport in Transition: The German Hinterland as Catalyst, 1850-1914" / 103

William Henry Flayhart III, "The Expansion of American Interests in Transatlantic Commerce and Trade, 1865-1893" / 127

Katayama Kunio, "The Expansion of Japan's Shipping Interests before the Sino-Japanese War" / 149

Mariko Tatsuki, "Cooperation and Reorganization on the North-South Routes from Japan in the Interwar Period" / 163

- Lars U. Scholl, "The Global Communications Industry and Its Impact on International Shipping before 1914" / 195
- Adrian Jarvis, "The Nineteenth-Century Roots of Globalization: Some Technological Considerations" / 217
- Poul Holm, "The Global Fish Market: Internationalization and Globalization, 1880-1997" /239
- Bjørn L. Basberg, "Convergence or National Styles? The Japanese Challenge to the British-Norwegian Hegemony in the Twentieth-Century Whaling Industry" / 259
- Vassilis Kardasis, "International Trends and Greek Shipping: The Business Strategy of Demetrios Moraitis, 1893-1908" / 285
- John Theotokas, "Organizational and Managerial Patterns of Greek-Owned Shipping Enterprises and the Internationalization Process from the Interwar Period to 1990" / 303
- Lewis Johnman, "Internationalization and the Collapse of British Shipbuilding, 1945-1973" / 319
- Shin Goto, "Globalization and International Competitiveness: The Experience of the Japanese Shipping Industry since the 1960s" / 355
- Frank Broeze, "Containerization and the Globalization of Liner Shipping" / 385