

Florence Ramond Jurney • Karen McPherson
Editors

Women's Lives in Contemporary French and Francophone Literature

palgrave
macmillan

CONTENTS

Part I Defining the Mother	1
Aban-donner: The Maternal in Le jour où je n'étais pas là Laurie Corbin	3
The Accidental Author: Motherhood, Woundability, and Writing in Maryse Condé's La vie sans fards Nicole Simek	19
Childless Mothers: Personal Perspectives from Francophone Women Writers Alison Rice	31
"If you don't have children, you must be...": Linda Lê's À l'enfant que je n'aurai pas and Voluntary Non-Motherhood Julie Rodgers	45
Linda Lê's Antigonal Refusal of Motherhood Gillian Ni Cheallaigh	61

Free at Last: Coming to Terms with the Mother in the Woman in La noce d'Anna by Nathacha Appanah Florence Ramond Jurney	77
Part II Defining the Aging Self	93
La dernière adresse: Possessions, Dispossession and the Preservation of Memory Jean Anderson	95
Redefining the Self: Explorations of Aging in Michèle Sarde's Constance et la cinquantaine and Nancy Huston's Dolce agonie Susan Ireland and Patrice J. Proulx	105
A Daughter No More: (National) Identity and the Adult Orphan in Loin de mon père by Véronique Tadjo Amy Baram Reid	121
Writing the Mother Immortal: Cixous and Dupré Karen McPherson	135
Bibliography	147
Index	159