

Contents

Acknowledgments VII

Note on Transliteration and Nomenclature IX

Abbreviations X

List of Maps and Illustrations XII

Introduction 1

1 The Islamic Juridical Field in Central Asia, ca. 1785–1918 40

2 Native Judges into Colonial Scapegoats 104

3 The Bureaucratization of Land Tenure 157

4 Annulling Charitable Endowments 211

5 Fatwas for Muslims, Opinions for Russians 250

Epilogue. The Legacy: Opportunities from Colonialism 306

Appendix I: Examples of Diplomas of Appointment to the Office of
Qāḍī 316

Appendix II: Examples of Sale Deeds of Land in Tashkent, 1856–1883 321

Appendix III: Ṣādiq Jān Ākhūn Jān-ūghlī vs. Muḥyī al-Dīn Khwāja Īshān
Qāḍī 325

Appendix IV: A Qāḍī's Ruling on a Defamation Case 347

Glossary of Islamic Terms 352

Archival Files Consulted 355

Bibliography 365

Index 389