

Contents

Preface – Acknowledgments — VII

Cristóbal Pagán Cánovas and Mihailo Antović
Introduction: Oral poetics and cognitive science — 1

Elizabeth Minchin
Repetition in Homeric epic: Cognitive and linguistic perspectives — 12

Raymond F. Person, Jr.
From grammar in everyday conversation to special grammar in oral traditions:
A case study of ring composition — 30

William Duffy and William Michael Short
Metaphor as ideology: The Greek “folk model” of the epic tradition — 52

Cristóbal Pagán Cánovas and Mihailo Antović
Construction grammar and oral formulaic poetry — 79

Hans C. Boas
Frames and constructions for the study of oral poetics — 99

Anna Bonifazi
Particles as cues to structuring in Serbo-Croatian and early Greek epic — 125

Mark de Kreij
The priming act in Homeric epic — 148

Sonja Zeman
Orality, visualization, and the Historical Mind: The “visual present” in (semi-)oral epic poems and its implications for a Theory of Cognitive Oral Poetics — 168