

THE MORPHOSYNTAX
OF PORTUGUESE
AND SPANISH IN LATIN AMERICA

Edited by Mary A. Kato

and

Francisco Ordóñez

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

CONTENTS

Foreword vii

Mary A. Kato and Francisco Ordóñez

List of Contributors xiii

1. Microparametric variation in Spanish and Portuguese: The null subject parameter and the role of the verb inflectional paradigm 1
Maria Eugênia Duarte and Humberto Soares da Silva
2. The null subject parameter revisited: The evolution from null subject Spanish and Portuguese to Dominican Spanish and Brazilian Portuguese 27
José Camacho
3. On the notion of partial (non-) pro-drop in Romance 49
Andrés Saab
4. Rebel without a Case: Quantifier floating in Brazilian Portuguese and Spanish 78
Renato Lacerda
5. Subject and topic hyper-raising in Brazilian Portuguese: A case study on reference sets for economy computations 107
Jairo Nunes
6. <V-and-V> constructions in Portuguese: The case of <ir-and-V> 135
Madalena Colaço and Anabela Gonçalves
7. Inflected infinitives and restructuring in Brazilian Portuguese 157
Marcello Modesto
8. The null object in Romania Nova 177
Sonia Cyrino
9. The external possessor construction in European Portuguese and Brazilian Portuguese 204
Maria Aparecida Torres Morais and Heloisa Maria Lima-Salles

10. Agreement and DOM with impersonal se : A comparative study of Mexican and Peninsular Spanish	236
Francisco Ordóñez and Esthela Treviño
11. Some syntactic and pragmatic aspects of WH-in-situ in Brazilian Portuguese	259
Maria Cristina Figueiredo Silva and Elaine Grolla
12. Pseudo-clefts and semi-clefts: An analysis based on Portuguese	286
Mary A. Kato and Carlos Miotto
13. From [o[que]] to [o que] in Brazilian Portuguese Free Relatives: A diachronic view	308
Paulo Medeiros Junior
14. A study of truncated nominal forms in Brazilian Portuguese: Their derivation and their relation to nonverbal form classes	332
Ana Paula Scher
Name Index	355
Subject Index	361
Language Index	365