

CONTENTS

List of figures and tables	x
Introduction: Sharing – an alternative	xiii
1. This is not a gift	1
Introduction	1
Ceci n'est pas un don	2
The myth of reciprocity	12
The realities of sharing	21
Conclusion	27
2. Sharing the prey: Evolutionary assumptions	30
Introduction	30
Origins of sharing	30
Assessing the primate heritage	32
The sharing curve	34
From origin to function	38
The risk-reduction function	45
The levelling function	48
The versatility of sharing	51
Conclusion	56
3. The ethnography of sharing demand	59
Introduction	59
Sharing as a complex institution	60

Sharing and kinship	64
The language of sharing	68
Sharing and bodily presence	72
Opportunities instead of obligations	78
Making and unmaking demands	83
Conclusion	87
4. The things we share		89
Introduction	89
Affording to share	90
Sharing big items and big packages	94
Sharing commensality	98
Sharing a place	100
Sharing Halbzeug in a community of practice	106
Conclusion	111
5. It is a shareholder's world		113
Introduction	113
To hold a share – and to hold on to it	114
Corporate holding and incorporated holding	115
Becoming a shareholder	121
Being a claimant	125
Sharing in the time of shareholding	127
Conclusion	133
6. Introducing the sharing economy		136
Introduction	136
Sharing economy as the answer – what was the question?	137
When “sharing” is renting (out)	140
When “sharing” means having and insisting on keeping	142
When “sharers” insist on giving	147
When paying tax means enabling sharing	152
When “sharing” is just a button	157
Conclusion	161
7. The time to share		163
Introduction	163
Oversharing – sharing all over?	164
Premature giving	169
Belated giving	171

Picking the right time	174
Ultimate sharing: Sharing to the end – but not beyond	179
Conclusion	184

Conclusions: The limits of sharing and the finite self 187

Bibliography	197
Index	212