

Contents

Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xv
Textual note	xvii
1 Criminals and angels	I
2 The community of the humble	13
Poor Folk	21
3 Breakdown of brotherhood	36
Kind hearts or false ones	36
New characters and experiments	40
4 The Idiot : melodrama and ideal	51
Melodramatic machinery	51
Nastasia Filippovna and Edith Dombey	56
The ideal man: Prince Myshkin and Mr Pickwick	66
Allegorical patterns and myth	79
5 The Idiot : reality	85
Little Dorrit and the condition of Russia	85
Practical men and benevolence	89
Individuals: Dorrit and Ivolgin	93
6 The Devils : disintegration	106
Interpretation and structure	110
Steerforth and Stavrogin	119
Peter Verkhovensky and Barnaby Rudge	123
Stepan Trofimovich Verkhovensky	135
7 The Brothers Karamazov	139
Conclusion: Dickens's 'ideal' types	150
Select bibliography	162
Index	167