

CONTENTS

PART ONE

BEFORE DARWIN: THE PATTERN

I. Introduction	3
II. Emerson: The Beginnings	37
III. Poe's Eureka : The Problem of Mechanism	67
IV. Whitman: High Tide	92

PART TWO

AFTER DARWIN: QUESTION AND COMPROMISE

V. The Coming of Darwin	131
VI. Minor Poets: Straws in the Wind	139
VII. Bryant, Longfellow, and Lowell: Rejection, Indifference, Discomfort	167
VIII. Taylor and Lanier: The Romantic Evolutionism Again	191
IX. Holmes: Evolution Without Transformism?	211

PART THREE

THE END OF THE CENTURY: THE "GENTEEL TRADITION"

X. The Persistence of Teleology	235
XI. The Influence of Spencer and Darwin: Sill and Certain Minor Poets	247
XII. The "Genteel Tradition": Stedman, Gilder, and Cawein	275
XIII. The Paradox of the "Genteel Tradition": Hovey, Lodge, and Moody	294

PART FOUR

THE TWILIGHT OF COSMIC OPTIMISM

XIV.	Some New Turns of Thought, Less Cosmic and Less Optimistic	331
XV.	Shifting Ground: Some of Robinson's Contemporaries	350
XVI.	Robinson	365
Notes	375
Bibliography	433
Index	443