

CONTENTS

I. MESSAGE TO THE GRASS ROOTS

(Detroit, November 10, 1963)

Why we catch hell — Need for black unity — The Bandung Conference — The Negro revolution and the black revolution — What revolution is — Singing, not singing — White nationalism and black revolution — The house Negro and the field Negro — The government, not our government — Peaceful suffering — The march on Washington — Kennedy and the Big Six — A parade with clowns 3

II. A DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

(New York, March 12, 1964)

Statement to press conference 18

III. THE BALLOT OR THE BULLET

(Cleveland, April 3, 1964)

He happens to be white — If you fight here, you'll know why — Not a diner — American nightmare, not dream — Your wasted vote — Giant con game — Democrats and Dixiecrats — A government conspiracy — A new interpretation — It takes two to tango — How this country got rich — Kill that dog! — Unless you run into some nonviolence — Civil rights and human rights — The Atlanta restaurant — Korean War — Atomic stalemate — Guerrilla warfare — Political, economic and social philosophy — A lesson from Billy Graham — Black nationalist party or army — What segregation is — On rifles and shotguns — Free elections in Cuba and here — Strange vegetation 23

IV. THE BLACK REVOLUTION (New York, April 8, 1964)

When someone yells fire — Population explosion — Fears of social change — The fuse and the powder keg — A new generation — Learning from George Washington — The most corrupt system — Integrationists and separationists — American stage a white stage — A part of dark mankind — The white man is a minority — How whites can help — Take it to United Nations — South Africa and the U.S. — A cracker president — America can have a bloodless revolution — Balance of power 45

V. LETTERS FROM ABROAD (April–May, 1964)

Jedda, Saudi Arabia — Lagos, Nigeria — Accra, Ghana 58

VI. THE HARLEM "HATE-GANG" SCARE (New York, May 29, 1964)

Travel broadens scope — Curiosity about socialism — Should "Blood Brothers" exist? — Black man in police state — An occupying army — Not here to apologize — The odds in China, Cuba and Algeria — The chicken and the duck egg — Capitalism, racism and socialism — Negroes must unite first . . . 64

VII. APPEAL TO AFRICAN HEADS OF STATE (Cairo, Egypt, July 17, 1964)

Memorandum submitted to conference of the Organization of African Unity — An interview on the banks of the Nile — Impact on Africa: Testimony from SNCC leaders and from Washington 72

VIII. AT THE AUDUBON (New York, December 13, 1964)

Unveiling a black revolutionary — The Congo and

Mississippi — Keeping an open mind — The woman on the plane — The press and its images — When bombing becomes humanitarian — Tshombe — Peace prizes — Criminals and victims — Talking about the man — Mercenaries and hostages — The little black goat — Dick Gregory — The revolution in Zanzibar — President Nyerere in Cairo — Message from Che Guevara — Sheik Babu of Tanzania — All those fine decorations — Reward for a sheriff 88

IX. WITH MRS. FANNIE LOU HAMER
(New York, December 20, 1964)

Freedom Singers and Oginga Odinga — Greatest freedom fighter in Africa — Speak language the man understands — Give them an alternative — Sadness and anger — The language of brutes — If one room is dirty — Northern crackers — The Atlantic City Convention — All out of the same plate — Only one way to be free — Jesus with a sword — As valuable as a white man's freedom — Brothers, equipped, qualified and willing 105

X. AT THE AUDUBON
(New York, December 20, 1964)

Salaam Alaikum — Different patterns of struggle — Program and objective — Twentieth-century Toms — Talk about "separation" — We want to get out of control — We'll do it the American way — How we came here — The East-West struggle — Socialistic systems abroad — Martin Luther King and Scandinavia — Africa's strategic position — African independence and the European economy — The gateway to South Africa — The Aswan Dam — Religion in the Egyptian revolution — Motive behind world revolution — Identifying with African bloc — Non-alignment in Africa and here — Mrs. Fannie Lou Hamer — Don't be ashamed of Mau Mau — "It's you or me" — Tit for tat — Liberals, get you a sheet . . . 115

XI. TO MISSISSIPPI YOUTH (New York, December 31, 1964)

Think for yourself — How much nonviolence in Harlem? — Change since 1939 — The draft in 1940 — Same type of Negro leaders — Cycle broken somewhat — Not for moral reasons — Pressure from outside — Seeds of division — Greatest accomplishments of 1964 — Not alone in Mississippi — Not trying to incite — Like a knot on the wall — What preceding generation did — Stay radical long enough — Not hate, but sense — No interpretation necessary †

137

XII. PROSPECTS FOR FREEDOM IN 1965 (New York, January 7, 1965)

One of best newspapers — Defining freedom — Progress in Africa — Vietnam struggle continues — Civil war in Congo — Wrong is wrong — China's atomic bomb — Power recognizes only power — The Year of Promise — Letting off steam — Civil-rights bill — The gimmick for '65 — Apologists in Africa — The Harlem "riot" — The miracle of 1964 — Rather be dead — Explosion inevitable — The presidential election — Door closed in face — Old methods and new 147

XIII. AFTER THE BOMBING (Detroit, February 14, 1965)

Home bombed — Confidence not lost — Excuse appearance — Africans organize, Afro-Americans lollygag — Starting the OAAU — Power structure international — Time to be cool and time to be hot — They do know what they do — "Racism in reverse" — Causes of the Harlem "riot" — Why news is suppressed — Gas chambers possible — Making us hate ourselves — From colonialism to dollarism — Role of Black Muslims — Secret of growth — Robert Kennedy and Governor Barnett — Tokenism —

Solution needed for masses — The Newsweek poll — Regret Black Muslim situation — Practice of brotherhood 157

XIV. CONFRONTATION WITH AN "EXPERT"
 (New York, February 18, 1965)

Final portion of "Contact," a radio phone-in program
 featuring panel discussion by Malcolm X, Gordon
 Hall and Stan Bernard. 178

XV. LAST ANSWERS AND INTERVIEWS

A con man? — Not afraid of investigation — On racism — Intermarriage and a black state — The man you think you are — How to organize the people — Dollarism and capitalism — The police commissioner — Public notice to Rockwell — On politics — Slumlords and anti-Semitism — Militant whites and blacks — Advice to a nonviolent heckler — On going back to Africa — On black nationalism — The American ambassador — The Red Chinese ambassador — Nature of coming world showdown — A global revolution — Linking the problem — Moise Tshombe and Jesse James — Two minutes on Vietnam — The Congo, Cuba and law — The role of young people — Working with other groups — Actions worthy of support — The John Brown school
 — His own mouth, his own mind 194