

Table of Contents

Foreword by Stephen Knight	1
Preface by Malcah Effron	5
Introduction by Malcah Effron	11
Crime Fiction and the Politics of Place: The Post-9/11 Sense of Place in Sara Paretsky and Ian Rankin (P. M. NEWTON)	21
A Normal Pathology? Patricia Cornwell's Third-Person Novels (BETH HEAD)	36
Inheriting the Mantle: Wallander and Daughter (SUSAN MASSEY)	50
"A Visitor for the Dead": Adam Dalgliesh as a Serial Detective (SABINE VANACKER)	66
Transforming Genres: Subversive Potential and the Interface between Hard-Boiled Detective Fiction and Chick Lit (SONJA ALTNOEDER)	82
The Poetics of Deviance and The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time (CHRISTIANA GREGORIOU)	97
"A Natural Instinct for Forensics": Trace Evidence and Embodied Gazes in The Bone Collector (LINDSAY STEENBERG)	112
"Post-Modern or Post-Mortem?" Murder as a Self-Consuming Artifact in Red Dragon (DAVID LEVENTE PALATINUS)	128
Revisiting Paranoia: The "Witch Hunts" in James Ellroy's The Big Nowhere and Walter Mosley's A Red Death (MAUREEN SUNDERLAND)	142

Table of Contents

A Detective Series with Love Interruptions? The Heteronormative Detective Couple in Contemporary Crime Fiction (MALCAH EFFRON)	157
Detective Fiction and Serial Protagonists: An Interview with Ian Rankin (SIÂN HARRIS and MALCAH EFFRON)	173
About the Contributors	185
Index	187