

Contents

FOREWORD by Graham Hutton	5
THE AUTHOR	7
I HYPOTHESIS, NOT THEORY	8
A journalist's insight	8
A discount on scepticism	9
II CAUSES OF CONFUSION: A DEEP-SEATED MALAISE, NOT 'GUILTY MEN'	9
Decay, bitterness and division	10
Fissures and recriminations	10
III CAUSES OF CONFUSION: ECONOMIC PRESSURES ..	11
The two market-places	12
The 'hidden hand': imperfections and intervention	13
Political process without automatic regulator ..	14
IV THE CONTRASTING LOGICS OF ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL CHOICE IN UNEMPLOYMENT AND INFLATION	14
The 'Phillips curve' trade-off	15
Misunderstanding of Keynes	15
Imperfections of the labour market:
mobility and information	16
Monopolistic bargaining in the labour market ..	17
Inflationary expectations	18
Trans-cyclical acceleration of inflation	19
Is the required action politically possible? ..	19
The full employment-inflation dilemma:
the chain reaction	20
Harmonising the conflicting logics in USA and Europe	21
USA may escape the dilemma	21
Less hope in Western Europe	22
The 'socialist' alternative	22

V	A WAY TO RESOLVE THE POLITICO-ECONOMIC CONTRADICTIONS?	23
	Inflation ' ad Weimar '?	23
	Political tolerance of unemployment	24
	No solution in revising measures of unemployment	24
	Transforming the economic mechanisms:
	consumer and employee sovereignty	25
	Equip employees with entrepreneurial realities	27
	What about the trade unions?	28
	Some loose ends	29
	Paramountcy of consumer sovereignty	30
	A practicable solution	31
VI	THE PROPOSITION: AN ALTERNATIVE TO ANARCHY AND TOTALITARIANISM	33