

LITERARY SEMANTICS

Contents

Frontispiece Photograph of MS Harley 7578	i
Preface	v
Typographical Note	ix
Foreword: Second Edition	x

Part I: THE THEORIES OUTLINED

CHAPTER 1 A THEORY OF KNOWLEDGE

The Problem of Meaning	3
The Meaning of Literature	8
A Theory of Knowledge	9

CHAPTER 2 THE THEORY OF AFFIDENCE

Knowledge and Communication	15
The Theory of Affidence	15
Emotive Truth	21
Consent	24
Some Problems of the Semantics of Literature	25

CHAPTER 3 A THEORY OF VALUE

I. A. Richards' Theory of Value	30
A Theory of Value	33
A Theory of Literature	35

The Contradiction Underlying I. A. Richards' Theories	41
Literature and Education	42

Part II: THE THEORIES DEVELOPED

A. ANALEPTIC THEORY

CHAPTER 4 LITERARY SEMANTICS

The Linguistic Basis of Literary Semantics	48
A Theory of Science	51
The Organization of Literary Semantics	53
Literary Semantics	54
The Semantics of Literature (with Transmission Semantics)	55
Semics	56
Theoretical Semics	57
Practical Semics	58
Empirical Semics	58
Introspective Semics	59
Introspective Semics, Practical Criticism and Value	60

CHAPTER 5 LITERARY SEMANTICS AND LITERARY CRITICISM

The Bateson-Fowler Controversy	63
Vendler: Ineptitude of Linguists	63
Bateson's Model	64
Fowler's Three Approaches	64
Bateson's Reply to Fowler: Criticism is Independent of Linguistics	65
Fowler: A Definition of Style	67
Bateson's Second Reply: An Aesthetic View of Style	69
Summary of Bateson's and Fowler's Respective Positions	70
Literary Criticism	70
(i) that the critical approach is superior	71
(ii) that linguistics is not necessary to the study of literature	72
(iii) that linguists are unable to respond rightly to a piece of literature	74
(iv) that linguists, instead of going forward into the style, go backwards into the language they already know	76
Academic Criticism	77
The Supposed Intersubjectivity of Literary Criticism	82
Dollerup and Intersubjectivity	82

Bateson and Intersubjectivity	83
What is Intersubjectivity?	85

CHAPTER 6 LITERARY SEMANTICS AND LINGUISTIC ANALYSIS

An Example of Linguistic Analysis	89
Rodger's Linguistic Analysis of Harley 7578	90
The Semantics of Literature and Linguistic Analysis	92
Empirical Semics and Linguistic Analysis	96
Theoretical Semics and Linguistic Analysis	98

B. KINETIC THEORY

CHAPTER 7 THEORETICAL SEMICS

Literature and Science	100
Transmission Semantics	102
The Rôle of Theoretical Semics as an Exploratory Tool	104
Pure Science and Applied Science	107
Semantic Models	108
The Dynaxial Hypersphere	111
Dynamism and Facilitation	119

CHAPTER 8 APPLICATIONS OF THE DYNAXIAL HYPERSPHERE

The Ontological Problem	127
The Concept of Grammaticality	128
The Imagination of the Child	129
Retardation of Language-Learning Ability in the Teens	129
The Centrality of Consciousness	130
Indistinct Recollection	130
Dreaming and Poetic Creation: Kubla Khan (Transmission Semantics)	131
Deviation of Literary Language	134
Tension	134
Metaphor	136
Simile	137
Semic Accompaniment	138

CHAPTER 9 THE CONCEPT OF MODALITY

The Use of Technical Terms	140
The Concept of Modality	141

CHAPTER 10 A MODAL THEORY OF STYLE

Some Treatments of Style	154
Leo Spitzer's Philological Circle	154
Michael Riffaterre's Style Analysis	157
Bennison Gray's Excision of 'Style' by Occam's Razor	157
An Anthropological Aside	159
Occam's Razor of and the Concept of Style	160
A Modal Theory of Style	161
Subsumption	163

CHAPTER 11 EMPIRICAL SEMICS

Segers' Treatment of Value	164
Value and Style	168
The Limits of Empiricism	171
An Alternative View of Value	173

Part III: THEORY AND PRACTICE*CHAPTER 12 LEVELS OF MODALITY

Modality Within and Beyond Discourse	176
Knowledge Two Modalities: Logic to Natural Languages	176
Knowledge One and the Glass Ceiling	179
(a) Possible Worlds	179
(b) Mathematics and Logic	180
Knowledge One Modality	182
Knowledge Two Modalities in Literary Semantics	184
Literary Semantics as a Science	184
Component Modality	186
Textual Modality	188

CHAPTER 13 AN EXERCISE IN PRACTICAL SEMICS

The Inadequacy of Modal Verb Classification	190
Modal Verbs in The Miller's Tale	190
A Theory of Fictionality	194
Textual Modality and Frame-Profiling	194
Simultaneous Framing	202
Authority	204
Fictionality	206
Relevance	207
Sequential Framing	207
Formal Criteria for Establishing Frames	210

CHAPTER 14 THE CHAIN OF MODALITY

The Chain of Modality 212

CHAPTER 15 A MODEL FOR THE HUMAN SCIENCES

Literary Semantics – an academic discipline:

a Document for Discussion 217

LITERARY SEMANTICS: THE DOCUMENT 217

Freundlieb's Critique 220

The Problem of the Object Domain 221

The Problem of Metatheory 224

The Scientific Integration of Literary Studies 228

Psychological Level: the Ontogenesis of Modality 228*Sociological (Scientific) Level: Phylogenesis of Modality* 229*Philosophical Level: Meta-Modality* 229*The Tracks Within the Chain of Modality* 230

Pollard's Criterion 231

Exclusive and Inclusive Science of Literary Semantics 231

Exclusive View: the Empirical Threshold 231*Rien T. Segers: the Evaluation of Literary Texts* 233*Inclusive View: the Scientific Forum* 233

The Justification for Literary Semantics 235

Notes 237GLOSSARY: A Discourse Structure for Literary Semantics 258Appendix One: PASSAGE FROM THE MILLER'S TALE 279Appendix Two: EMPIRICAL SEMICS 281Appendix Three: INTROSPECTIVE SEMICS 283Levels of Modality in Chaucer's Merchant's Tale:*Appendix Four: A TEACHER-CENTRED MODEL
FOR EDUCATION 285

John Passmore's Triadic Model 285

Theoretical Semics Applied to the Theory of Education 287

Reciprocal Perspective 291

Appendix Five: A GENESIS OF LITERARY SEMANTICS	293
Bibliography	306
Subject Index	317
Name Index	320
List of Figures	324