

Contents

Tables	VII
Series Foreword	IX
1 Politics, Media, and Modern Democracy: Introduction Paolo Mancini and David L. Swanson	1
PART I Campaign Innovations in Established Democracies with Stable Political Cultures
2 Politics, Media, and Modern Democracy: The United States Dan Nimmo	29
3 Modern Communications versus Traditional Politics in Britain: Unstable Marriage of Convenience Jay G. Blumler, Dennis Kavanagh, and T. J. Nossiter	49
4 The Modernization of Swedish Campaigns: Individualization, Professionalization, and Medialization Kent Asp and Peter Esaiasson	73
5 The "Americanization" of German Election Campaigns: Any Impact on the Voters? Klaus Schoenbach	91
PART II Campaign Innovations in New and Restored Democracies
6 Television, Campaigning, and Elections in the Soviet Union and Post-Soviet Russia Ellen Mickiewicz and Andrei Richter	107
7 Television and Elections in Post-1989 Poland: How Powerful Is the Medium? Karol Jakubowicz	129
8 Political Communication and Electoral Campaigns in the Young Spanish Democracy Juan I. Rospir	155

PART III Campaign Innovations in Democracies Facing Potentially Destabilizing Pressures
9	American-Style Electioneering in Israel: Americanization versus Modernization Dan Caspi 173
10	Patterns and Effects of Recent Changes in Electoral Campaigning in Italy Gianpietro Mazzoleni 193
11	Secular Politics: The Modernization of Argentine Electioneering Silvio R. Waisbord 207
12	Politics, Media, and Modern Democracy: The Case of Venezuela José Antonio Mayobre 227
13	Patterns of Modern Electoral Campaigning and Their Consequences David L. Swanson and Paolo Mancini 247
	Selected Bibliography 277
	Index 279
	About the Editors and Contributors 285