

Table of Contents

List of Figures

Acknowledgements

INTRODUCTION

Lucie Doležalová and Kimberly Rivers

1

I. TAXONOMY AND METHODOLOGY

Medieval Miscellanies and the Case of Manuscript British Library, Cotton Titus D.XX

Greti Dinkova-Bruun

14

The Art of Regensburg Miscellanies

Adam S. Cohen

34

*Looking for the Purpose behind a Multitext Book:
The Miscellany as a Personal "One-Volume Library"*

Eva Nyström

70

II. AUTHORSHIP AND NON-AUTONOMY OF TEXTS

Non-autonomous Texts: On a Fifteenth-Century German "Gregorius" Manuscript (Constance, City Archive, Ms. A I 1)

Diana Müller

84

The Appearance of "Artes praedicandi" in Medieval Manuscripts

Siegfried Wenzel

102

Creating the Memory of God in a Medieval Miscellany: Melk MS 1075, Jean de Hesdin (fl. 1350–1370), and Late Medieval Monastic Reform

Kimberly Rivers

112

Multiple Copying and the Interpretability of Codex Contents:

"Memory Miscellanies" Compiled by Gallus Kemli (1417–1480/1) of St. Gall

Lucie Doležalová

139

An Educational Miscellany in the Carolingian Age: Paris, BNF, lat. 528 Alessandro Zironi	168
The Constitution and Functions of Collections of Patristic Extracts: The Example of the Eucharistic Controversy (9th–11th centuries) Stéphane Gioanni	182
Theological Distinctions, Their Collections and Their Effects. The Example of In Abdiam and In Naum Csaba Németh	194
The Wiesbaden Miscellany. The Deliberate Construction of a Haphazard Collection Kees Schepers	218
An Interpretation of Brunetto Latini's Tresor in a Fifteenth-Century Miscellany Manuscriptuscripts Dario del Puppo	240
The Romances of British Library, Cotton Vitellius D.III Elizabeth Watkins	256
Contributors	270
Index librorum manuscriptorum	275
General Index	279
Colour Plates	285