

Contents

Series Foreword	vi
Darrell J. Rohl
Preface: Towards New Frontiers and Beyond	vii
Sergio González Sánchez and Alexandra Guglielmi
1. Introduction: Imperial Limits and the Crossing of Frontiers	1
Richard Hingley
2. Of Barbarians and Boundaries: The Making and Remaking of Transcultural Discourse	8
Karim Mata
3. Roman Britain from the Outside: Comparing Western and Northern Frontier Cultures	34
Andrew Gardner
4. Et tu, Hibernia? Frontier Zones and Culture Contact – Ireland in a Roman World	48
Jacqueline Cahill Wilson
5. A World of Warcraft: Warrior Identities in Roman Iron Age Scandinavia	70
Xenia Pauli Jensen
6. Modern Perceptions of Roman–Scandinavian Relations: Research History and Interpretations	83
Thomas Grane
7. Romans and Roman Finds in the Central European Barbaricum : A New View on Romano–Germanic Relations?	105
Hans-Ulrich Voß and David Wigg-Wolf
8. Two Emperors – One Border: The Roman Limes before 1914	125
Wolfgang Moschek
9. The Political Organisation of the Civitates of the Three Gauls and the Myth of Republican Exceptionalism	137
Aaron Irvin
10. Conclusion and Final Discussion: A View from the South	152
David Mattingly	