

Contents

Introduction	page vii
Principal events in Fourier's life	xxvii
A brief note on further reading (in English)	xxx
Translator's introduction	xxxii
The Theory of the Four Movements and of the General Destinies	I
1808 Introduction	3
Preliminary discourse	5
Plan	29
First part: Exposition of some branches of the general destinies	33
General ideas about the destinies	36
Phases and periods of the social order in the third planet namely the earth	40
Epilogue: On the proximity of the social metamorphosis	101
Second part: Description of the various branches of the private or domestic destinies	107
First account: On the progressive household of the seventh period, and on the discontents of the sexes in the incoherent household	109
Second account: On the splendour of the combined order	151

On the abandonment of moral philosophy	181
Third part: Confirmation derived from the inadequacy of the inexact sciences to deal with all the problems that the civilised mechanism presents	191
First demonstration: Freemasonry and its still unknown properties	194
Second demonstration: The insular monopoly and its still unknown properties	203
Interlude: System of development of Civilisation	217
Third demonstration: Commercial licence: Its known vices and its unknown dangers	222
Epilogue: On the social chaos of the globe	273
Omitted chapter	282
Note A	289
Advice to the civilised	305
1818 Introduction	310
Index	323