

Contents

1 Affect: Theory and Research .....	1
1.1 Introduction .....	1
1.2 What Is an Emotion?: Past to Present .....	2
1.2.1 Emotions as Basic, Natural Kinds .....	4
1.2.2 Emotions as Appraisals .....	6
1.2.3 Emotions as Psychological Constructs .....	8
1.2.4 Does the Concept of Emotion Serve Any Useful Purpose in Scientific Psychology? .....	10
1.3 Theoretical Framework .....	11
1.3.1 Psychological Construction: A Framework for the Present Investigation .....	11
1.3.2 Core Affect .....	12
1.3.3 Affective Evaluations .....	13
1.3.4 Affective Primacy Hypothesis .....	15
1.3.5 Unconscious Affect .....	17
1.3.6 Tracing Affect in the Brain .....	19
1.4 Conclusion .....	22
References .....	22
2 Affect-Language Interface: A Reductionist Approach .....	31
2.1 Introduction .....	31
2.2 Effects of Affective Valence on Word Recognition: Cognitive Evidence .....	32
2.2.1 Effects of Affective Valence on Word Recognition .....	33
2.2.2 Effect of Affective Valence on Colour and Word Naming: Emotional Stroop Task .....	35
2.3 Effects of Affective Valence on Word Recognition: Neurocognitive Evidence .....	39
2.3.1 Neuroanatomy of Affective Word Processing: Evidence from fMRI .....	39

2.3.2	Electrophysiology of Affective Word Processing: Evidence from EEG .....	41
2.4	The Reductionist Approach: Benefits, Limitations, and Challenges .....	46
2.5	Conclusion .....	49
	References.....	49
3	Affect-Language Interface: A Pragmatic Perspective .....	57
3.1	Introduction.....	57
3.2	Pragmatics.....	58
3.3	Affective Pragmatics.....	59
3.4	Neuropragmatics.....	62
3.5	Affective Neuropragmatics.....	64
3.5.1	Neurophysiological Responses to Affective Words in Sentence Context .....	65
3.5.2	Impact of Socio-Personal Context on Affective Word Processing .....	67
3.6	Conclusion .....	70
	References.....	71
4	Affect-Language Interactions in Nonnative Speakers.....	75
4.1	Introduction.....	75
4.2	Affective Proximity or Affective Distance? Bilinguals in Psychotherapy .....	77
4.3	Affect Manifestation in Bilinguals' Autobiographic Memory .....	78
4.4	Bilinguals' Affective Repertoires from an Introspective Perspective .....	81
4.4.1	The Bilingualism and Emotions Questionnaire (BEQ) .....	81
4.4.2	Bilinguals' Perception of Affective Intensity in Their Languages.....	82
4.4.3	Bilinguals' Choice of Language for Affect Manifestation....	83
4.4.4	Summary .....	84
4.5	Affective Language Processing in Cognitive Paradigms.....	84
4.5.1	Memory Advantage for Affective Words .....	84
4.5.2	Allocating Attentional Resources to Affective Words: Emotional Stroop and RVSP Tasks .....	87
4.5.3	Processing Advantage for Affective Words: Affective Priming and Lexical Decision Paradigms.....	89
4.5.4	Summary .....	91
4.6	Affective Language Processing in Psychophysiological Paradigms.....	91
4.7	Affective Language Processing in Neuroimaging Paradigms .....	94
4.8	Conclusion .....	97
	References.....	98

5	Affective Word Processing in Native and Nonnative English Speakers: A Neuropragmatic Perspective.....	103
5.1	Introduction.....	103
5.2	Experiment 1.....	104
5.2.1	Introduction.....	104
5.2.2	Materials and Methods.....	106
5.2.3	Results and Discussion .....	112
5.3	Experiment 2.....	121
5.3.1	Does Affective Valence of Context Impact the Processing of Sentence-Final Adjectives? .....	122
5.4	Conclusion .....	127
	References.....	127
6	Processing of Affective Meaning in Native and Nonnative Language: Why Context Matters .....	133
6.1	Limitations .....	142
6.2	Implications for Future Research.....	143
	References.....	143
7	Affective (Dis)Embodiment in Nonnative Language.....	149
7.1	Embodiment of Language and Affect in Native Language.....	150
7.2	Affective (Dis)Embodiment in Nonnative Language.....	152
	References.....	155
	Appendix A: A Complete Set of Noun-Adjective Dyads from Experiment 1 .....	161
	Appendix B: A Complete Set of Sentences from Experiment 2 .....	169
	Index.....	191