

Contents

Roland Kießling &amp; Raija L. Kramer Warme weinführende Worte	7
Torben Andersen Clausal constituent order and cross-reference in Jumjum (Western Nilotic)	9
Klaus Beyer Grammaticalization as it happens? A usage-based approach to morphosyntactic variation in Pana	27
Ines Fiedler The structuring of information in natural discourse in Ama (Nyimang)	45
Orin D. Gensler Against the “revisionist” view of Ethiosemitic prehistory: A methodological counter-critique	63
Jeff Good &amp; Jesse Lovegren Remarks on the nasal classes in Mungbam and Naki	83
Tom Güldemann A shared pronominal canon in the eastern Macro-Sudan belt: Typological, areal and genealogical perspectives	101
Bernd Heine, Christa König &amp; Karsten Legère A text study of discourse markers in Akie, a Southern Nilotic language of Tanzania	147
Birgit Hellwig The goe in Goemai: The development of modifiers in a Chadic language	169
Roland Kießling Experiencer encoding in Taa (Southern Khoisan)	189

Raija L. Kramer

On locomotion, spatial orientation and lexical aspect: The functional diversity of deictic directional suffixes in Fali ("Adamawa", North Cameroon) 225

Karsten Legère

Empowering national languages: The Bantu language area 243

Gudrun Mieke

Ventive, allative and deictic motion verbs in Cerma (Gur) 261

Alice Mitchell

The pragmatics of a kinship term:
The meaning and use of íyá 'mother' in Datooga (Nilotic) 287

Henning Schreiber

Contact induced variation and the collective self:
Parallel interferences vs. transfer in communication 303

Gabriele Sommer

Variation in Shiyeyi (Botswana/Namibia) 321

Yvonne Treis

"They are only two, like the teats of a donkey":
Kambataa denumerals revisited 339

Holger Tröbs

SEINS-Konstruktionen in afrikanischen Sprachen 367

Rainer Voßen

On the reconstruction of Proto-LOTUKO obstruents 385