Contents

Preface xiii

1 Overview of occupational psychology 1
Early development of occupational psychology 2
What is work? 3
Early developments in the psychology of work 4
What has led to the growth of interest in occupational psychology? 6
What is the scientific method? 7
Applications of occupational psychology 11
Occupational psychology and professionalism 16
Summary 17
Activities 18
Further reading 18

2 Attitudes to work 19
Protestant work ethic 20
Need for achievement 22
Power needs 24
Locus of control/attribution theory 24
Origins of values 25
Meaning of work 26
Work centrality in Japan 29
Summary 32
Activities 32
Further reading 33

3 Job satisfaction and motivation 35
Satisfaction and performance 37
Perspectives on motivation 41
Summary 45
Activities 45
Further reading 46

4 Applications of satisfaction and motivation 47
Job design 48
Absenteeism 51
Turnover 57
Measuring the value of good performance 58
Job evaluation 60
Pay for performance 62
Summary 64
Activities 64
Further reading 65

5 Performance appraisal 67
Practical problems with performance appraisal 70
Legal issues 73
Research 73
Self-efficacy 75
Methods 76
A model of the performance appraisal process 81
Development dialogues 81
Summary 82
Activities 82
Further reading 83

6 Training 85
Historical 87
Why training is useful and desirable 90
Determining training needs 92
Delivering training 95
Training design 96
Application of learning principles 96
Individual attributes and training 101
Training has to be validated 103
The future 103
Summary 104
Activities 104
Further reading 104

7 Selection: some theoretical considerations 105
Issues involved in decision making 106
Psychometrics 111
Validation of selection methods 112
Utility 115
Summary 117
Activities 117
Further reading 117

8 Selection process and practice 119
Historical approaches to selection 120
Interest in selection 121
Commercial practice in selection 123
Stages in the hiring process 126
Recruitment 127
General introduction to methods used 129
Job analysis 132
Summary 136
Activities 136
Further reading 137

9 Interviewing 139
The basics of interviewing 140
Usage in the practical context 141
Elements of the interview 141
Interview format 142
Process dynamics 143
Validity 146
Specific errors in the process 147
Research 149
Improvements 151
Example of interview research 154
Summary 155
Activities 155
Further reading 156

10 Use of psychological tests in selection 157
Features of psychological tests 158
Important considerations in the use of tests 160
Legal 162
Types of tests 163
Misleading use of personality tests 172
The five factor model 174
Summary 175
Activities 176
Further reading 176

11 Miscellaneous selection techniques 177
Application forms 178
Curriculum vitae 179
Weighted Application Blanks and biographical data 180
Bio-data 181
Assessment centres 186

Integrity tests 190
Computer- and video-based testing 192
Graphology 193
Work and job sample tests 194
In-basket tests 195
Projective tests 196
Summary 197
Activities 197
Further reading 197

12 Psychological factors and unemployment 199
Significance of unemployment 200
Consequences of unemployment 201
Facts and figures 201
General reactions to unemployment 203
Meaning of work 204
Financial effects 207
Effects on health 208
Psychological effects 210
Coping 213
Summary 215
Activities 215
Further reading 216

13 Stress at work 217
Working to death in Japan 218
Physiology and stress 220
Health and well-being 221
Studying stressors and stress 223
Burnout 225
Sources of stress in blue-collar workers 227
Managerial stress 228
Ways of coping 229
Workplace intervention for stress reduction and prevention 231
Summary 233
Activities 234
Further reading 234

14 Age, gender and discrimination 235
Ageing and work 236
Ageing workers and society 238
Retirement 239
Career plateau 240
Age and job performance 242

Gender issues 243
Summary 248
Activities 249
Further reading 249

15 Emerging issues 251
Ethics in business 252
Employee policy 255
AIDS in the workplace 257
Violence and accidents at work 258
Future work 260
Summary 265
Activities 266
Further reading 266

16 The organisational context 267
Unions and management 268
Leadership 271
Organisational communication 278
Teams in organisations 280
Summary 283
Activities 283
Further reading 283

References 285

Index 309