

CONTENTS

Chapter 1: Introduction	1
1.1 Background	1
1.2 The problem and definitions	2
1.3 Relevance	3
1.4 Outline	4
Chapter 2: Conceptual framework	7
2.1 Introduction	7
2.2 Defining structure, learning strategy and career success	7
2.3 Organizational structure as an antecedent to learning strategy	15
2.4 Learning strategies as determinants of career success	18
2.5 Moderator-effects of structure	20
2.6 Hypothetical model	21
Chapter 3: Some validation data for the measurement of managers' learning strategies	23
3.1 Introduction	23
3.2 The relation between motivation and learning	24
3.3 Method	26
3.4 Results	30
3.5 Summary and conclusion	35
Chapter 4: Method of main research	39
4.1 Introduction	39
4.2 Sample and procedure	39
4.3 Operationalizations	43
4.4 Analysis	50
Chapter 5: Results	53
5.1 Introduction	53
5.2 Descriptive statistics and reliabilities	53
5.3 Assessment of the hypothesized relations between structure, learning strategy and career success	60
5.4 Moderator effects of structure	65

Chapter 6: Discussion	73
6.1 Introduction	73
6.2 General conclusions and discussion	74
6.3 Route 1 to career success: Deep learning, especially in decentralized and unspecialized organizations	77
6.4 Route 2 to career success: Avoid surface learning, especially in integrated organizations	82
6.5 Recommendations for the shaping of management development	84
6.6 Limitations of the study	89
6.7 Possibilities for further research	92
Samenvatting	94
References	100
Appendix 1: Items measuring structure	106
Appendix 2: Items measuring learning strategy	116
Appendix 3: The self judgement rating scale	120
Appendix 4: Scales measuring motivation	121
Appendix 5: Covariates	125