

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT . . . . .	iii
LIST OF TABLES . . . . .	vii
CHAPTER
I. HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION . . . . .	1
The Work Simplification Approach . . . . .	1
The Job Enrichment Approach . . . . .	2
Measuring the Characteristics of Jobs . . . . .	4
The Moderating Effect of Work Values on the Relationships Between Job Characteristics and Worker Responses . . . . .	7
Overview and Conclusion on the Hulin and Blood Model . . . . .	21
II. THE HACKMAN-LAWLER JOB ENRICHMENT MODEL . . . . .	23
Expectancy Theory and Job Design . . . . .	23
The Hackman-Lawler Model of Job Enrichment . . . . .	25
General Relationships Between the Job Dimen- sions and Work Outcomes . . . . .	30
The Moderating Effect of GNS . . . . .	32
The Moderating Effect of GNS on the Reactions of Employees to Jobs that are High on All Four Core Dimensions . . . . .	42
Combining the Core Dimensions to Produce Maximum Motivation . . . . .	43
III. EXAMINATION OF THE HACKMAN-OLDHAM JOB ENRICH- MENT THEORY . . . . .	49
The Hackman-Oldham Job Enrichment Theory . . . . .	49
The Job Diagnostic Survey . . . . .	53
Correlations of the Job Dimensions, Psycholo- gical States and the MPS Score with Job Outcomes . . . . .	56
Combining the Psychological States to Predict Affective Responses of Workers . . . . .	57
Comparing the MPS Score with Other Combina- tory Models . . . . .	59
Interrelationships Between the Psychological States and the Core Job Dimensions . . . . .	60
The Mediating Effect of the Psychological States . . . . .	63
The Moderating Effect of Growth Needs . . . . .	67
The Moderating Effect of GNS and Contextual Factors on the Relationship Between the MPS Score and Job Outcomes . . . . .	68

The Moderating Effects of Individual Difference Factors on the Relationship Between the Five Core Job Dimensions and Job Outcomes . . . . .	73
Factor Analytic Studies of the JDS and JCI . . . . .	77
IV. PURPOSE AND METHODS . . . . .	81
Statement of Purpose . . . . .	81
Methods . . . . .	82
Subjects . . . . .	82
Data Collection Procedure . . . . .	82
Measures . . . . .	83
Data Analyses . . . . .	85
V. RESULTS . . . . .	91
Factor Analysis of the JDS Core Job Dimension Items . . . . .	91
Factor Analysis of the JDS Core Job Dimension Scales . . . . .	98
Factor Analysis of the JDS Psychological State Items . . . . .	98
The Mediating Effect of the Psychological States on the Relationships Between the Core Dimensions and Job Outcomes . . . . .	101
The Moderating Effects of GNS and Satisfac- tion with Contextual Job Factors on the Relationships of the Psychological States with Job Outcomes . . . . .	113
The Moderating Effects of GNS and Satisfac- tion with Contextual Job Factors on the Relationships of the Psychological States with the Core Dimensions . . . . .	120
VI. DISCUSSION . . . . .	122
Factor Analysis of the JDS Core Job Dimension Items . . . . .	122
Factor Analysis of the JDS Core Job Dimension Scales . . . . .	123
Factor Analysis of the JDS Psychological State Items . . . . .	124
The Mediating Effect of the Psychological States on the Relationships Between the Core Dimensions and Job Outcomes . . . . .	125
The Moderating Effects of GNS and Satisfac- tion with Contextual Job Factors on the Relationships of the Psychological States with Job Outcomes . . . . .	127

CHAPTER	Page
The Moderating Effects of GNS and Satisfaction with Contextual Job Factors on the Relationships of the Psychological States with the Core Dimensions . . . . .	129
REFERENCES . . . . .	131