Contents at a glance

PART ONE: PERSPECTIVES AND ENQUIRY

1. Historical influences and research methodology 3

PART TWO: THE INDIVIDUAL

2. Personality 27
3. Intelligence 75
4. Motivation and job design 88
5. Perception and communication 130
6. Learning and memory 180
7. Human information processing and decision making 212
8. Attitudes, job satisfaction, and commitment 246

PART THREE: THE GROUP

9. Groups 289
10. Teambuilding 327
11. Leadership and management style 352
12. Power, politics, and conflict 390

PART FOUR: THE ORGANISATION

13. Organisational structure and design 421
14. Organisational culture 469
15. Organisational change and development 498

PART FIVE: MANAGEMENT AND ORGANISATIONAL ISSUES

16. Human resources practices: Selection and appraisal 523
17. Human resources practices: Rewards, training, and development 554
18. Health and work: Stress 595

References 631
Author index 680
Subject index 692

Contents

Acknowledgements xiv
Preface xv
List of figures and tables xvi
Figure and table acknowledgements xx

PART ONE: PERSPECTIVES AND ENQUIRY

1. Historical influences and research methodology 3
   - Learning objectives 4
   - Introduction 4
   - Nature of psychological perspective 4
     - Different approaches 5
   - Nature of organisational behaviour 6
   - Historical perspective 6
     - Scientific management 7
     - Classical bureaucracy 7
     - Principles of organisation 8
     - Early industrial psychology in the UK 9
     - Human relations movement 10
     - Neo-human relations 12
     - Systems approach 13
     - Contingency approach 14
     - Contemporary issues 14
   - Research methodology 15
     - Characteristics of the scientific method 16
     - Techniques and settings 17
     - Ethical issues 21
   - Summary 22
   - Questions 23

PART TWO: THE INDIVIDUAL

2. Personality 27
   - Learning objectives 28
   - Definition 28
   - Research approaches 29
     - Idiographic approach 29
     - Nomothetic approach 29
   - Psychoanalytical perspective 30
     - Levels of awareness 30
     - Structure of personality 31
     - Defence mechanisms 32
     - Personality development 33
   - Projective tests 35
     - Rorschach test 36
     - Thematic apperception test 36
   - Role playing or visualisation 36
     - Stereotyping 36
     - Brand personality 37
   - Trait perspective 38
     - Allport's trait categories 38
     - Catell's 16 PF test 39
     - State of trait theory 40
   - Personality testing 41
     - Personality questionnaires 41
     - Standing of psychometric testing 45
     - Advantages of tests 46
     - Disadvantages of tests 47
     - Features of tests 48
     - Ethical issues 49
     - Graphology 49

Type perspective 50
The four humours 51
Sheldon's typology 51
Eysenck's typology 52
Big five factor theory 54
Personality types and accidents 56
Jung's typology 57
Allport's typology 59
Personality types and career choice 59
Psychographics 60
Interpersonal perspective 61
Self-concept 61
Personal construct theory 62
Behavioural perspective 65
Reinforcement 65
Imitation 67
Socialisation 67
Situational variables 68
Social context 68
Cognitive perspective 69
Internal–external locus of control 69
Field dependency–independency 71
Summary 72
Questions 74

3. Intelligence 75
Learning objectives 76
Models of intelligence 76
Information processing models 77
Measurement of intelligence 81
Stanford-Binet intelligence scale 82
Wechsler intelligence scales 82
Emotional intelligence questionnaire 83
Mediating influences 84
Aptitude and achievement tests 85
Aptitude tests at work 85
Summary 86
Questions 87

4. Motivation and job design 88
Learning objectives 89
Definition 89
Needs 89
Motives 89
Drives 90
Arousal 90
Goals or incentives 91
Frustration 91
Need theories 92
Hierarchy of needs 92
ERG theory 94
Achievement motivation 95
Dual-factor theory 97
Theory X and theory Y 100
Cognitive evaluation theory 100
Cognitive theories 100
Goal-setting 101
Applying goal-setting to budgeting in organisations 104
Expectancy theory 106
Expectancy theory and management control 109
Equity theory 111
Integration of motivation theories 112
Control theory of motivation 112
Problems with motivation 114
Rest pauses 116
Culture and motivation 116
Job design 116
Job specialisation 117
Job rotation 118
Job enlargement 118
Job enrichment 118
The job characteristics model (JCM) 119
Groups and job design 122
New technology and job design 124
Further perspectives on job design 126
Summary 128
Questions 129

5. Perception and communication 130
Learning objectives 131
Stimulus 131
The senses 132
Vision 133
Hearing 137
Other senses 138
Kinaesthesis 140
Vestibular 140
Overview 140

Attention (selective perception) 141
External physical stimuli 141
Other applications of physical stimuli 143
Absolute and differential thresholds 145
Disposition of the perceiver 147
Perceptual organisation 149
Ambiguous figures 149
Figure/background 149
Gestalt laws of organisation 150
Constancy 152
Illusions 153
Applications of perceptual organisation 155
Perceptual interpretation 156
Person perception 157
Misinterpretations 158
Impression management 161
Attribution theory 162
Communication processes 165
Ways of communicating 166
Communication as transactions 169
Communication cycle 171
FIDO 172
Communication barriers 172
Communication problems 173
Improving communication 174
Important communication skills 176
Summary 178
Questions 179

6. Learning and memory 180
Learning objectives 181
Learning 181
Classical conditioning 182
Unconditioned and conditioned stimuli 182
Generalisation 184
Emotional reactions 184
Discrimination 184
Operant conditioning 185
Reinforcement 185
Punishment 187
Schedules of reinforcement 188
Programmed learning 191
Linear programming 191
Branching 191
Behaviour modification 191
Shaping 192
Modelling 192
Organisational behaviour modification 193
Criticisms of organisational behaviour modification 197
The relevance of social learning theory 198
Cognitive learning 199
Insight learning 199
Latent learning 199
Skills acquisition 199
Memory 200
Short-term memory 201
Long-term memory 201
Working memory 201
Encode or process 202
Store or retain 203
Retrieval 206
Recall 207
Postscript 209
Transfer of learning (training) 209
Transfer 209
Summary 210
Questions 211

7. Human information processing and decision making 212
Learning objectives 213
Human information processing 213
Approaches to information processing 215
Lens model 215
Cognitive approach 216
Process tracing approach 217
Decision making 218
Decision cycle 219
Econological model 221
Bounded rationality model 223
Implicit favourite model 226
Decision making under conditions of uncertainty 226
Negotiation 227
Other issues 229
Decision support systems 233
Individual and organisational influences 233

Personality and cognitive style 233
Creativity 237
Trained incapacity 242
Division of labour 243
Organisational hierarchy 243
The grapevine 243
Summary 244
Questions 245

8. Attitudes, job satisfaction, and commitment 246
Learning objectives 247
Definition 247
Values 248
Work ethic 249
Business ethics 251
Attitude formation 252
Functions of attitudes 253
Instrumental or adjustive function 253
Ego defensive function 253
Expressive function 254
Knowledge function 254
Prejudice 254
Influence of personality and culture 255
Influence of group norms 257
Ways of reducing prejudice 257
Attitude change 257
Sources of attitude change 257
Factors contributing to attitude change 258
Balance and consistency 266
Consistency theories 266
Attitude measurement 269
Thurstone scale 270
Likert scale 271
Osgood's semantic differential 272
Sociometry 272
Reliability and validity 273
Attitudes and behaviour 273
Planned behaviour 273
Alternative viewpoint 275
Job satisfaction 276
Emotion 277
Causes of job satisfaction 277
Measuring job satisfaction 278
Consequences of job satisfaction 280
Job dissatisfaction 281
Organisational commitment 282
Summary 283
Questions 284

PART THREE: THE GROUP

9. Groups 289
Learning objectives 290
Definition 290
Types of group 290
Formal or informal 291
Primary or secondary 291
Co-acting 291
Counteracting 291
Reference 291
Characteristics of groups 291
Norms 291
Cohesiveness 292
Communication and interaction 294
Structural factors 299
Group dynamics 304
Reasons for joining groups 304
Group processes 305
Reference groups 305
Social comparison 306
Co-action and affiliation 311
Social control 312
Decision making 314
Inter-group behaviour 323
Summary 325
Questions 326

10. Teambuilding 327
Learning objectives 328
Definition 328
Types of teams 329
Teambuilding models 333
Models of group development 333
Effective groups and high performance teams 336
Problems with teambuilding 339
Project teams 340
Management team development 341
Dyer's approach 341
Belbin's approach 341
Team roles 343
Team management wheel 346
Diversity in teams 347

Leadership in teams 348
Effective team leadership 349
Contextual factors 350
Summary 350
Questions 351

11. Leadership and management style 352
Learning objectives 353
Leadership versus management 353
Traits, personal characteristics, and skills 355
Traits 355
Managerial talent 356
Skills 356
Behavioural style 357
Styles of leadership 358
Likert's four styles 359
Consideration and initiating structure 360
The managerial grid 361
Participative leadership 362
Macro participation 365
Contingency theories 366
Leadership continuum 366
The influence–power continuum 367
Fielder's model 369
A normative model 371
Leader–member exchange (LMX) theory 377
Path–goal model 378
Hersey–Blanchard situational theory 380
Attribution perspective 381
Substitutes for leadership 382
Redefinition of leadership 383
Contemporary trends 383
Transformational leadership 383
Other issues 387
Summary 388
Questions 388

12. Power, politics, and conflict 390
Learning objectives 391
Definition 391
Power 391
Bases of power 392
Other power bases 393
Applications of French and Raven's power bases 393
Power tactics 396
Reflections on power 399
Politics 400
Causes of political behaviour 400
Political techniques or tactics 402
Pros and cons of political behaviour 406
Ethics in organisational politics 406
Coping with political behaviour 406
Conflict 407
Types of conflict 408
Sources of conflict 409
Uses of conflict 412
Management of conflict 412
Summary 416
Questions 417

PART FOUR: THE ORGANISATION

13. Organisational structure and design 421
Learning objectives 422
Definition and common characteristics 422
Common goals 423
Typology 424
Metaphors 425
Formal and informal organisations 425
The nature of bureaucratic organisation 426
Weber's ideal bureaucracy 426
Principles of organisation 428
Structural arrangements 432
Mintzberg's coordinating mechanisms 435
Contingency factors 438
Environment 438
Technology 444
Size and technology 453
Strategic choice 454
Socio-technical systems 457
Emerging organisational forms 458
The flexible firm 461
Lean production systems 462
High performance systems 463
Summary 467
Questions 468

14. Organisational culture 469
Learning objectives 470
Definition 470

Types of culture 471
Culture vs. climate 471
Dominant and sub-cultures 471
Strong vs. weak cultures 472
Dimensions of organisational culture 473
Company practices 473
Company communications 473
Physical cultural forms 474
Common language 474
Framework of analysis 474
Ouchi's approach 474
Peters and Waterman's approach 476
Deal and Kennedy's approach 478
Harrison's four types 480
Other approaches 480
Development of culture 481
Participation 481
Information from others 481
Symbolic action 481
Comprehensive reward systems 482
Organisational socialisation 482
Benefits of culture 484
Effective control 484
Normative order 487
Promotion of innovation 487
Strategy formulation and implementation 487
Employee commitment 487
International comparisons 489
Cross-cultural studies 490
International manager 494
Convergence or divergence? 494
Comment 494
Summary 496
Questions 497

15. Organisational change and development 498
Learning objectives 499
Organisational change 499
Models of change 499
Resistance to organisational change 500
Sources of resistance 501
Controlling resistance to change 503
Planning organisational change 504
Organisational development 509
Development techniques and interventions 510
Structure, culture, and learning organisation 510
Task redesign 511
Individual and group emphasis 511
Teambuilding 514
Grid development 516
Management by objectives 517
Conflict management 517
Overall evaluation of organisational development 518
Summary 520
Questions 520

PART FIVE: MANAGEMENT AND ORGANISATIONAL ISSUES

16. Human resources practices: Selection and appraisal 523
Learning objectives 524
Human resource management 524
Personnel selection 525
Job analysis 526
Selection methods 527
Fairness 534
Validity 535
Reliability 536
Utility 537
Performance appraisal 537
Goals of performance appraisal 537
Criteria for performance appraisal 538
Performance appraisal techniques 538
Administering the appraisal system 543
Use of appraisal information 546
Problems with appraisal 546
Summary 551
Questions 552

17. Human resources practices: Rewards, training, and development 554
Learning objectives 555
Rewards 555
Purpose and philosophy 556
Determination of rewards 556
Advantages and disadvantages of job evaluation 558
External influences 559

Types of reward 559
Postscript 569
Employee training 569
Skill acquisition 569
Learning curves 571
Training process 572
National developments 572
Needs assessment 574
Training objectives 576
Training methods 576
Management development 581
Action learning 581
Management competences 582
National initiatives 582
Assessment centres 582
Indoor or outdoor exercises? 582
Career planning 585
The learning organisation 591
Evaluation of training and development 592
Summary 593
Questions 594

18. Health and work: Stress 595
Learning objectives 596
Definition 596
Physiological reactions 597
Cost of stress 598
Burnout 598
Post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) 599
Stress in different occupations 600
Stressors 601
Stress from within the organisation 602
Stress from within the individual, plus outside influences 612
Suggested remedies for stress 621
Cognitive strategies 622
Social support 624
Summary 630
Questions 630

References 631
Author index 680
Subject index 692