

Contents

Preface VII

- 1 Introduction 1
 - 1.1 Research Question, Method and Structure 6
 - 1.2 What is Canonical Criticism? A Note on Terminology 10
 - 1.3 The Emergence of the Canonical Approach 13
 - 1.3.1 The State of the Canonical Debate and the Current Study 15
 - 1.4 Selection of Authors 17

- 2 Canonical Exegesis of the New Testament Gospels: Five Cases 19
 - 2.1 Brevard S. Childs 19
 - 2.1.1 The Canonical Approach of Brevard S. Childs 20
 - 2.1.2 Presentation of a Representative Exegesis 26
 - 2.1.3 Analysis 36
 - 2.1.4 Conclusions 39
 - 2.2 James A. Sanders 40
 - 2.2.1 The Canonical Approach of James A. Sanders 42
 - 2.2.2 Presentation of a Representative Exegesis 46
 - 2.2.3 Analysis 50
 - 2.2.4 Conclusions 52
 - 2.3 Peter Stuhlmacher 53
 - 2.3.1 The Canonical Approach of Stuhlmacher 55
 - 2.3.2 Presentation of a Representative Exegesis 62
 - 2.3.3 Analysis 67
 - 2.5.4 Conclusions 71
 - 2.5 Joseph Ratzinger/Pope Benedict XVI 72
 - 2.5.1 The Canonical Approach of Joseph Ratzinger 73
 - 2.5.2 Presentation of a Representative Exegesis 75
 - 2.5.3 Analysis 83
 - 2.5.4 Conclusions 85
 - 2.6 The "Amsterdam School of Exegesis" 86
 - 2.6.1 The Canonical Approach of the "Amsterdam School of Exegesis" 89
 - 2.6.2 Presentation of a Representative Exegesis 93
 - 2.6.3 Analysis 99
 - 2.6.4 Conclusions 102

3	Canonical Exegesis Considered: Heuristic Potential and Potential Pitfalls	103
3.1	Scripture and Community: The World in Front of the Text	103
3.1.1	The Interrelationship between Text and Community	104
3.1.2	Scripture as the Book of the Church	105
3.1.3	Is Every Critic a Theologian?	108
3.1.4	Points of Convergence with Contemporary Hermeneutical Thought	111
3.2	Justice to the Texts?	113
3.2.1	Canonical Exegesis and the "Final Form" of the Text	114
3.2.2	The Canonical Dimension of the Texts Themselves	115
3.2.3	Listening to the Claims of Texts	120
3.2.4	Interpretation through Tradition	121
3.2.5	Interpretation and Praxis	122
3.3	The World "Behind the Text?"	122
3.3.1	History, Witness, and Revelation	122
3.3.2	The Canonical Process and the World behind the Text	126
3.3.3	Concluding Observations: Canonical Approaches and History	127
3.4	Potential Pitfalls	127
4	Canonical Criticism: On the Road Towards Ecumenical Hermeneutics?	139
4.1	Introduction	139
4.2	Contemporary Ecumenical Hermeneutics and Canonical Criticism: An Inventarisation and Comparison	142
4.2.1	Introduction	142
4.2.2	Hermeneutics in the Ecumenical Movement until 1963	143
4.2.3	Hermeneutics at the World Conference on Faith and Order in Montreal (1963)	150
4.2.4	From "Montreal" to a Treasure in Earthen Vessels (1998)	153
4.2.5	Hermeneutics in the Church. Towards a Common Vision (2013)	165
4.3	Ecumenical and Canonical Hermeneutics: Compatibilities and Challenges	167
5	General Conclusions and Outlook: Perspectives for Canonically Inspired Exegesis	173
	Bibliography	183
	Index	204