

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Transliteration of Persian Words	ix
Introduction	1
Part I Troubled Heritage: History and Religion in the Diasporic Reconstruction
1 Explaining Departure: Narratives of Victimicy	23
2 A Usable Past: Construction of Religion and Alternative Identifications	47
Part II Language, Body, and the Iranian-American Self
3 The Interplay of Language and Identity Construction	73
4 The Iranian-American Body In Between	97
Part III Culture Inherited/In Flux
5 Between Fiction and Fact: Telling the Iranian-American Self	131
6 Relative Identities: The Iranian-American Self in Its Relation to Others	151
7 Imagining "Home": Between Persian Paradise and American Arcadia	177
Conclusion	197
Notes	203
Works Cited	205
Index	219