

Contents

List of illustrations	page vii
List of contributors	x
Acknowledgements	xvi
Introduction: why exhume? Why identify? Élisabeth Anstett and Jean-Marc Dreyfus	1
1 Bitter legacies: a war of extermination, grave looting, and culture wars in the American West Tony Platt	14
2 Final chapter: portraying the exhumation and reburial of Polish Jewish Holocaust victims in the pages of yizkor books Gabriel N. Finder	34
3 Bykivnia: how grave robbers, activists, and foreigners ended official silence about Stalin's mass graves near Kiev Karel C. Berkhoff	59
4 The concealment of bodies during the military dictatorship in Uruguay (1973–84) José López Mazz	83

5	State secrets and concealed bodies: exhumations of Soviet-era victims in contemporary Russia Viacheslav Bitiutckii	98
6	A mere technical exercise? Challenges and technological solutions to the identification of individuals in mass grave scenarios in the modern context Gillian Fowler and Tim Thompson	117
7	Disassembling the pieces, reassembling the social: the forensic and political lives of secondary mass graves in Bosnia and Herzegovina Admir Jugo and Sari Wastell	142
8	Identification, politics, disciplines: missing persons and colonial skeletons in South Africa Nicky Rousseau	175
9	Bury or display? The politics of exhumation in post-genocide Rwanda Rémi Korman	203
10	Remembering the Japanese occupation massacres: mass graves in post-war Malaysia Frances Tay	221
	Index	239