

Contents

Acknowledgments		ix
Notes to the Reader		xi
Introduction	Irony and Authenticity	3
Chapter One	Representing the Romantic Hero: Death and the Dream of Death	27
Chapter Two	The Icon and the Window: Framing the Social Self and Literary Mediation	73
Chapter Three	The Ineffable Self in the Landscape of Language: A Romantic Mythology of the Word	122
Chapter Four	Poetry as Theater: Taking the Stage	172
Chapter Five	Enter the Other: The Author and His Readers	250
Chapter Six	Sincere Lies: Irony and Seduction in Hero of Our Time	329
Chapter Seven	“Fierce Integrity”: Inner Freedom and Poetic Potentials	398
Conclusion	Living into Language	460
Appendix: Russian Poems Cited in the Text		467
Notes		491
Indexes		541