

CONTENTS

Preface	v
Delegates List	xi
1: DRIVER PERFORMANCE: LEGISLATION AND VISION	1
Introduction D.H. Brennan	3
Vision Requirements for Drivers of Vehicles on Public Roads: Are We Rigorous Enough? S.P. Taylor and R.V. North	5
Vision and Driving P.A. Smith	13
Standardising and Regularising Driver Vision Tests P.E. Ungar	19
Inter-Relationships Between British Drivers' Age, Visual Attributes, and Road Accident Histories P.A. Davison	25
Drugs and Drivers' Visual Perception A. Wetherell	33
Discussion	43
2: INFORMATION TO THE DRIVER: SIGNS AND HIGHWAY DESIGN	53
Introduction M. Sivak	55
Perception of Variable Message Traffic Signs P.G. Emmerson and P.B. Linfield	57
Computer-Aided Simulation of the Concealment of Motorway Direction Signs by Large Vehicles D.J. Gregg and C.T. Ingall	67

On the Earliest Perceptual Operations of Detecting and Recognizing Traffic Signs L.L. Avant, A.A. Thieman, K.A. Brewer, and W.F. Woodman	77
Analysis of the Effects of Sun Phantom on the Conspicuity of Directional Green Arrow Traffic Signals P.B. Linfield, B.A. Gilmartin, and J. Flanagan	87
Sun Phantom Effects on Type 400 Fibre-Optic Motorway Signs A.J. Vingrys and L.F. Garner	97
Combating Drivers' Visual Impairments Through Roadway Engineering N.D. Nedas	107
Discussion	117
 3: DRIVER PERFORMANCE: VISION AND THE VISUAL TASK	 123
Introductions I.D. Brown	125
A.G. Gale	129
 (A) ATTENTION
Drivers' Attentional Responses to Environmental Variations: A Dual-Task Real Traffic Study L. Harms	131
An Investigation of Low-Level Stimulus-Induced Measures of Driver Drowsiness J.H. Skipper and W.W. Wierwille	139
Evaluating Ways of Making Motorcycles More Conspicuous to Other Road Users E.J. Fulton and G.L. Donne	149
 (B) MOVEMENT ESTIMATION
Thresholds for Detection of Changes in Headway are Elevated During a Car Ride T. Probst	157
The Effect on Visual Performance of Image Motion Across the Retina J.P. Viveash	167
The Estimation of Time-to-Collision as a Function of Visual Stimulation V. Cavallo, O. Laya, and M. Laurent	179
 (C) EYE MOVEMENTS
Drivers' Display, Eye-Movements and Steering Behaviour: The Visual Basis of Car Driving U. Kramer and M. Nocolau	185

Saccadic Eye-Movements and Work Load of the Car Driver M. Neebawong, M. Sopher, and U. Kramer	195
Coping with Situational Demands: A Study of Eye-Movements and Peripheral Vision Performance T. Miura	205
Discussion	217
4: INFORMATION TO THE DRIVER-VEHICLE INSTRUMENTATION	223
Introduction J. Laycock	225
A Methodology for Road Evaluation of Automobile Displays H.L. Snyder and R.W. Monty	227
A Low-Cost Approach to Vehicle Instrument Evaluation D.J. Allerton and E.J. Zaluska	239
The Application of Head-Up Displays to Cars D.W. Swift and M.H. Freeman	249
Definition of an On-Board Visual Aid for Piloting Large Ships D. Mestre, V. Cavallo, and P. Péruch	257
Display Parameters for Driver Control of Vehicles Using Indirect Viewing I.D. Brown and S.M. McFaddon	265
Driving at Night in Armoured Fighting Vehicles D.T. Hudson	275
Discussion	283
5: VEHICLE FIELDS OF VIEW	293
Introduction P.F. Weigt and C.M. Haslegrave	295
Field of Vision Requirements for Train Drivers: How Computer Aided Design May Help S.A. Gibson and T. Scott	297
The Legislative Determination of the Driver's Field of View M. Fowkes	305
A Technique for the Comparative Assessment of External Visibility Characteristics in Road Vehicles J.M. Porter and M.C. Stearn	313
Effects on Driving Performance of Visual Field Defects P. Lövsund and A. Hedin	323

Direct Measurement of Windscreen Surface Wear and the Consequences for Road Safety A. Timmermann	331
Darker Glasses in the Rearward Field of View P.F. Weigt	343
Effect on Visibility of Wet Weather Spray from Heavy Goods Vehicles R.G. Mortimer, J. Monaco, and H.L. Crothers	355
Discussion	365
6: NIGHT DRIVING	371
Introduction R.G. Mortimer	373
Roadway Delineation at Night T.J. Triggs and B.N. Fildes	375
Effects of Daylight and Artificial Lighting on Bicycle/Car Right-of-Way Conflicts E. Tenkink	385
The Visual Tasks on the Ship's Bridge N.P. Robinson and D.B. Thomas	391
Discussion	401
7: POSTER DISPLAYS	407
An Illusion of Curvature in the Perception of Road Curves B.N. Fildes and T.J. Triggs	409
Misleading Perception and Vehicle Guidance Under Poor Conditions of Visibility A.H. Reinhardt-Rutland	413
8: PANEL DISCUSSION	417
Visual Compatibility Between Vehicles and Highways: Priorities for Action	419
Author Index	439
Subject Index	445
