Contents

PART I. The Development of Intelligence and Drawing Ability in Children

Chapter 1. Introduction 3
Some Problems Concerning Children's Drawings 3
The Plan of This Book 6

Chapter 2. Developmental Semiotics 11
The Subject Matter of Developmental Semiotics 11
Piaget's Theory of Mental Development 12

Chapter 3. The Mental Image 21
The Development of the Mental Image 21
The Computer Metaphor versus the Picture Metaphor 22
Research on the Mental Image in the USSR 25
The Role of the Mental Image in the "Function Circle" 28

Chapter 4. Drawing Development 31
The Empirical Study of Children's Drawings 31
Piaget's Experimental Evidence 35
The Influence of Luquet 38
Piaget's Three Phases in the Development of Children's Drawings 38
"Internal Models"—a Special Case of the Image Controversy 41

Chapter 5. Drawing in Nursery School 47
Drawing and Writing 47
The First Phase (3-4 years) 48
The Second Phase (4-5 years) 52
The Third Phase (5-6 years) 57

Chapter 6. Grapheme Development 61
General Hypothesis 61
Inventory of Forms 62
Study of Content Relationships 70

PART II. Children's Drawings of Buildings

Chapter 7. Introduction to the Study of Children's Drawings of Buildings 75
Why Study Drawings of Buildings? 75
Some Studies in the Literature 77
Children's Drawings of Different Building Types 86
The Influence of Physical or Mental Impairment on the Development of Drawing Ability 93
Cultural Comparison—A Qualitative Pilot Study 96
A Glance Backward and Some Open Questions 117
Hypotheses of the Central Study 126

Chapter 8. Methods of the Central Study 145
General Remarks about the Methods Used 145
The Drawings 146
The Children 146
Scoring the Observations on Children's Drawings 147
Analysis of the Data 149

Chapter 9. Results of the Central Study 157
Global Ratings of Drawing Development 157
Graphemes and Grapheme Systems 158
Distinctive Features of Different Building Types 164
The "Idealized" Drawing Sheets 166
The "Developmental Career" of Six Building Types 173
Statistical Evaluation of the Results 182

Chapter 10. Discussion of the Results 197
Accomplishments and Shortcomings 197

Further Evidence from Two Control Studies on Children's Recognition of Building Types from Pictures 199
The Role of Context in Sign Interpretation 220
Some Conclusions 223

References 225

Index 231