

Contents

Acknowledgments	page viii
Note on Texts and Terminology	xi
Introduction	I
1 Antichrist and the Whore in Early Modern England: Cultures of Interpretation	24
2 ‘What News from Babylon?’: Marston’s The Dutch Courtesan (1605) and the Spanish Peace	59
3 ‘Mere Idolatry?’: Resistance and Rome in Middleton’s The Lady’s Tragedy (1610)	94
4 ‘ Occultus Rex ’: Caroline Politics and Imperial Kingship in Massinger’s Believe as You List (1631)	122
5 ‘Purple Pride’: War, Episcopacy, and Shirley’s The Cardinal (1641)	164
6 ‘Rebellion Orthodox’: Arbitrary Rule and Liberty in Dryden and Lee’s The Duke of Guise (1682)	199
Conclusion: Drama and the Legacies of Anti-Catholicism	240
Select Bibliography	261
Index	279