

Acknowledgements.....	7
Introduction.....	9
1 Cultural Constructions: Femininity, the Body and the Saint	21
1.1 The Significance of Sanctity	23
1.1.1 Hagiography: An Introduction.....	24
1.1.2 The Cult of the Saints: Historical Development and Function	29
1.2 The Body as a Metaphor: Constructing the Body	34
1.2.1 Identifying the Natural – Identifying the Cultural Body	35
1.2.2 Hierarchical Structures: Mapping the Body	40
1.2.3 Sexuality and the Church: Controlling the Body	44
 2 Female Breasts – Female Weakness?	51
2.1 “A Complex Delight”: Illuminating the Symbolism of Breasts	53
2.2 The Torture of the Breast: On Imitatio Christi, Gendered Torture and Body Fluids	57
2.2.1 Saint Agatha: Serving Breasts on a Silver Plate	62
2.2.2 Holy Women and Milk-Leaking Wounds	68
2.3 Denying Nature: Transvestite Saints and the Concealment of Womanhood	73
2.3.1 Queering the Church	74
2.3.2 Saint Eugenia: Denying and Exposing	78
2.4 Concluding Remarks	84
 3 Details that Matter: The Implications of Hair(Styles)	87
3.1 Gendered Cells: Hair as a Social Phenomenon	88
3.2 Saint or Sinner? The Ambiguity of Long Hair	91
3.2.1 Harlot Saints and Hairy Repentants	93
3.2.2 Saint Agnes: The Virgin Martyr	99
3.3 Challenging Nature: Transvestite Saints and the Significance of the Haircut	103
3.3.1 Saints Eugenia and Euphrosyne: Manly Women of God	105
3.3.2 Receiving the Holy Haircut: Patterns, Popularity and the Denial of Sexuality	109
3.3.3 “But Who Can Cut My Hair?” The Function of Masculinity	114
3.4 Otherness and Ultimate Violation: The Bearded Saint.....	117
3.5 Concluding Remarks	125

4	Silenced, Penetrated, Sexualized: Two Readings of Teeth, Tongues and Throats	127
4.1	Cut Off – Cut Out: Symbolism, Torture and Common Practice	128
4.2	“Letting Satan In...”: Silencing the Saint?	133
4.3	Saintly Sexualized Bodies: Pious Pornography, Symbolic Defloration and Attempted Rape	141
4.4	Concluding Remarks	147
5	Gender Hybridity in Women’s Hagiography	149
	Conclusion(s): The Gendered Body and Female Sanctity	165
	Bibliography	171