

Contents

|                                                                                                                  |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Acknowledgments                                                                                                  | xi  |
| List of Abbreviations                                                                                            | xiv |
| Introduction                                                                                                     | 1   |
| 1. As Sextant                                                                                                    | 7   |
| The Form of The Cantos                                                                                    | 7   |
| The Good: The “Divine or Permanent World”                                                                        | 11  |
| Evil: Usura and the Hell of the Present                                                                          | 32  |
| The Struggle against Usura: The Heroes                                                                           | 37  |
| Pound’s Struggle with Himself                                                                                    | 49  |
| 2. Pound the Man of Letters versus Pound the Man:The Influence of Wyndham Lewis andHenri Gaudier-Brzeska | 56  |
| Wyndham Lewis: The Mystique of Loathing                                                                          | 62  |
| Gaudier-Brzeska: The Spirit Clear in the Stone                                                                   | 83  |
| 3. Cantos 1-71                                                                                                   | 98  |
| The Poetry Cantos                                                                                                | 99  |
| Hugh Selwyn Mauberley                                                                                     | 102 |
| Cantos 1-7                                                                                                       | 106 |
| Cantos 8-30                                                                                                      | 122 |
| Eleven New Cantos and the Fifth Decad                                                                     | 139 |
| Cantos 52-61: The Chinese History Cantos                                                                         | 154 |
| Cantos 62-71: The Adams Cantos                                                                                   | 169 |
| 4. The Pisan Cantos                                                                                              | 178 |

|                                                   |     |
|---------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 5. J'Ayme Donc Je Suis                            | 232 |
| Cantos 85 and 86: The Chou King            | 233 |
| Rock-Drill : Cantos 90-93                  | 239 |
| Thrones : Cantos 97, 106, and 109          | 259 |
| Drafts and Fragments                       | 271 |
| Appendix 1: Further Readings of The Cantos | 289 |
| Appendix 2: Pound and T. E. Hulme                 | 301 |
| Index                                             | 305 |

Illustrations

1. Charon and the Condemned Souls by William Blake. Watercolor, graphite, and ink on cream colored paper, 37.2 x 52.3 cm. Reproduced by permission of the Fogg Art Museum, Harvard University. Grenville L. Winthrop Bequest. Page 91
2. The Angel Crossing Styx by William Blake. Illustrations to Dante's Divine Comedy, Inferno, Cantos 8 and 10, Roe 19. Pen and watercolor over pencil, 37 x 52.3 cm. Reproduced by permission of the National Gallery of Victoria, Melbourne. Felton Bequest, 1920. Page 92
3. The Circle of the Lustful: Francesca da Rimini by William Blake, by permission of the Tate Gallery. Page 134
4. Madonna del Roseto by Stefano da Zevio, by permission of the Director of Museums and Art Galleries of the Commune of Verona. Page 137
5. Guidoriccio da Fogliano victorious over the castles of Montemassi and Sassoforte of Maremma by Simone Martini, by permission of Aldo Cairola, Director of the Civic Museum of Verona. Page 159
6. Guidoriccio da Fogliano, detail. Page 160
7. Madonna Enthroned with the Child, Angels, and Saints by Simone Martini, by permission of Aldo Cairola, Director of the Civic Museum of Verona. Page 161
8. Madonna Enthroned, detail. Page 162
9. Madonna, Torcello Cathedral, Venice. Photograph reproduced by permission of Miss Josephine Powell. Page 273