

---

CONTENTS

---

Chapter 1

EPISTEMOLOGY, METHODOLOGY, AND METHOD IN THE STUDY OF POLITICAL BEHAVIOR

Elinor R. Bowen and George I. Balch

Introduction .....	1
Alternative Philosophies of Science .....	2
Some Observation-Centered Approaches .....	5
Some Hypothesis-Centered Approaches .....	9
Philosophies of Metascience .....	16
Kuhn .....	17
Lakatos .....	19
General Strategic Postures: Some Verbal Cartoons .....	21
Postpositivist Research and Theorizing .....	23
The Conduct of Participant-Observation Research .....	24
The Role of Empirical Axioms in Theory .....	26
Scientific Aspects of Normative Statements .....	29
Methodology as a Normative Aspect of Science .....	32
Concluding Remarks .....	33
References .....	35

Chapter 2

POLITICAL BEHAVIOR AND AMERICAN PUBLIC POLICY: THE CASE OF THE POLITICAL BUSINESS CYCLE

Richard F. Winters, Cathy M. Johnson,
Paul T. Nowosadko, and Joseph E. Rendini

Introduction .....	39
The Literature on the Political Business Cycle .....	44
Political Regularities in Government Behavior and Economic Performance .....	45
Economic Performance and Presidential Popularity .....	50
Economic Performance and the Vote .....	55
Congress and the Distribution of Political Benefits .....	63
The Example of Transfer Payments .....	66
Fiscal Illusion .....	66
Election and Transfer Programs .....	67
Anomalies in the Electoral-Cycle Literature .....	69
Who Is Politically Responsible for the Electoral Economic Cycle?	76
Statutory Limits on Budget Manipulation .....	78
Other Obstacles to Budgetary Manipulation .....	79
Election Year Changes in Government Programs .....	80
Changes in the Money Supply and Surplus versus Deficit Financing .....	83
The 1964 Tax Cut as a Misleading Prototype .....	85
A Test Case: The President's Disaster Funds .....	86
Congressional Creation of the Electoral Economic Cycle .....	88
Selective Agencies versus Collective Agencies .....	88
The Predicted Electoral Economic Cycle .....	89
The Agency as Spending Advocate .....	92
The House and the Senate .....	96
The House and Senate Appropriations Committees .....	97
Summary and Conclusion .....	102
Conclusion .....	103
References .....	106

Chapter 3

ADMINISTRATIVE BEHAVIOR

William J. Gore

The Emergence of Program Management .....	113
Program Management: Social Strategy for Societal Development .....	118

Urbanization as a Developmental Force .....	120
Indigenous versus Self-Consciously Constructed Social Systems .....	122
Management: Custodian of Program Capability .....	128
Management Acumen as Social Intelligence .....	137
Limited Efficacy of Management's Social Calculus .....	143
Administrative Behavior: Working Face between Management on Behalf of Purposes and the Politics of Social Adaptation .	147
The Organizational Dilemma .....	150
Disjunctive Structures as Loci for Rational and Nonrational Forces .....	156
Parallel Agendas .....	166
Administrative Behavior: A Nonrational Response to Program Conflictuation .....	177
Conflictuation: Legacy of Dualism .....	179
Resolving Dilemmas by Forging Trade-offs .....	185
References .....	193

Chapter 4

INTEREST GROUPS, SOCIAL CONFLICT, AND PUBLIC POLICY

Harmon Zeigler and Harvey Tucker

Introduction .....	195
Organizations and Social Complexity .....	197
The Impact of Population Concentration .....	199
Institutional Centralization .....	201
Concentration or Dispersion of Governmental Authority .....	202
The Growth of Technology and Expertise .....	203
Groups and the Culture of Political Society .....	205
The Focus on Conflict .....	210
Conflict Management .....	211
The Policy Process .....	214
Demands and Responses: Reversing the Process .....	217
Proposal Development .....	218
Executive Review .....	221
Legislative Action .....	224
Supplementary Change .....	227
Implementation .....	228
Professional Expertise .....	230
Hierarchical Management .....	231
The Paradox of Mobility .....	232
Review .....	233

Conclusions .....	237
References .....	238

Chapter 5

JUDICIAL BEHAVIOR: MODELS AND LITERATURE OF THE FIELD

Anthony Champagne, Stuart Nagel, and Marian Neef

Models of Judicial Decision Making .....	241
The Legalistic Model .....	242
The Group Theory Model .....	243
The Input-Output Model .....	244
The Decision Theory Model .....	244
The Legalistic Model of Judicial Behavior .....	245
Definition .....	245
Origins of the Legalistic Approach .....	249
Debate over Outcomes from the Legalistic Model of Decision Making .....	252
Deviation from the Legalistic Model .....	255
Summary and Conclusions .....	261
Courts as Arenas for Group Politics .....	262
Introduction .....	262
Group Activity in the Appointment Process .....	266
Direct Involvement of Groups in Litigation .....	270
Amicus and Other Activity .....	276
The Extent of Interest Group Involvement .....	277
A Few Words of Caution .....	279
Judicial Behavior .....	280
Introduction .....	280
The Judicial Personality .....	281
The Socialization Process .....	284
Judicial Attitudes .....	287
The Judicial Role .....	288
Judicial Interaction .....	290
Summary and Conclusions .....	293
Decision Theory and Judicial Decisions .....	293
Defining Decision Theory and Reviewing the Literature .....	293
Deducing the Effects of Policy Changes .....	295
Optimizing Alternative Public Policies .....	304
Some Conclusions .....	309
References .....	310

Chapter 6

PRESIDENTIAL BEHAVIOR

Jeanne Nienaber

Introduction .....	317
The President's Environment: Institutional Constraints on Behavior .....	319
Presidential Roles in Historical Perspective .....	322
The President as Manager/Leader .....	323
The President's Options vis-à-vis the Bureaucracy .....	327
The President and Congress: Separated Institutions Having to Share Powers .....	331
Summary: The State of the Institutionalized Presidency .....	338
Personality and Presidential Behavior .....	339
Conclusion: Presidential Behavior in an Era of Limits .....	347
References .....	349
 INDEX .....	 353