

Contents

Foreword v

Introduction: On Theology and Logology 1

1. On Words and The Word 7

First Analogy 11 Second Analogy 16 Third Analogy 17 Fourth Analogy 24 Fifth Analogy 27 Sixth Analogy 29

2. Verbal Action in St. Augustine's Confessions 43

Outline of the Inquiry 43 I. Of Words Here Generally 49 II. The Beginning 51 III. The End 58 IV. The Middle, in Sum 62 V. En Route (a) 65 VI. En Route (b) 73 VII. Whence Evil? 86 VIII. Adolescent Perversity 93 IX. The Middle (Conversion, Turn, Peripety) in Detail 101 X. The Book of Monica 117 XI. What All Is Memory? 123 XII. To Cling (Inhaerere) 129 XIII. Trinitarian Considerations That Complicate the Ascent 133 XIV. Imagery, Sensation, Temptation and Mediator 138 XV. In the Beginning . . . 141 XVI. Multitudes and Abundances (Ubertates) and Increases 155 XVII. Conversion of a Word 160 XVIII. In Conclusion 163

3. The First Three Chapters of Genesis 172

Outline of the Inquiry 172 I. On Covenant and Order 174 II. Tautological Cycle of Terms for "Order" 183 III. Covenant and "Counter-Covenant" in Hobbes's Leviathan 196 IV. Principles of Governance Stated Narratively 201 V. Restatement, on Death and Mortification 208 VI. The Narrative Principle in Imagery 212 VII. Dominion, Guilt, Sacrifice 215 VIII. Final Comparing of Cyclical and Rectilinear Styles 222 IX. Logological Epilogue 236 X. Miscellaneous Postscripts 242

Epilogue: Prologue in Heaven 273

Index 317