

Contents

Introduction: Reviving Genres Ronald Schleifer	Page 3
“Contention Is Better Than Loneliness”: The Poet as Folklorist Edward Hirsch	11
The Two Worlds of Synge’s The Well of Saints Anthony Roche	27
The Fall of the Stage Irishman Declan Kiberd	39
George Moore’s Turning Mind: Digression and Autobiographical Art in Hail and Farewell Ronald Schleifer	61
Joyce’s Waste Land Jackson I. Cope	93
A Beginning: Signification, Story, and Discourse in Joyce’s “The Sisters” Thomas F. Staley	121
Chronology and Narratology in Sean O’Casey’s Beginnings Bernard Benstock	139
After the Revival: The Problem of Adequacy and Genre Terence Brown	153
Thomas Kinsella: An Anecdote and Some Reflections Hugh Kenner	179
Contributors	189
Index	191