

CONTENTS

Preface		vii
Editors' Note		ix
Stuart Parkes:	Contemporary German-language literature: The changing agenda	1
Dieter Stolz:	Patrick Süskind's Parfum : 'No one knows how well made it is'	19
Wiebke Sievers:	German identities in transition? The translation of contemporary German fiction in Britain and France	31
J. J. Long:	Bernhard Schlink's Der Vorleser and Benjamin Wilkomirski's Bruchstücke : Best-selling responses to the Holocaust	49
Beatrice Petz:	Günter Grass since the Wende : German and international	67
Christopher Jones:	Images of Switzerland in Swiss crime fiction	85
Arthur Williams:	W. G. Sebald: A holistic approach to borders, texts and perspectives	99
Silke Hassler:	Michael Scharang: From Florisdorf to New York and back again	119
Helmut Peitsch:	Enlightenment and entertainment — still? Uwe Timm's narrative model and his reception in the USA and in Great Britain	131
Stefan Neuhaus:	'Erzählen ist total erotisch': Literature, pleasure and desire in novels by Thomas Brussig, Uwe Timm and Ulrich Woelk	153
Tanja Nause:	Reduction, regression, silence: A critical look beyond the category of the picaresque	173
Peter Graves:	How simple are Ingo Schulze's 'Stories'?	197
Astrid Köhler:	Whither? Away! Reflections on the motifs of travel and identity in recent east German prose	207

vi — CONTENTS

Susan Tebbutt:	Bridging the cultures: German contemporary Jugendliteratur	221
Uta Aifan:	Staging exoticism and demystifying the exotic: German-Arab Grenzgängerliteratur	237
James Jordan:	Of fables and multiculturalism: The Felidae novels of Akif Pirinçci	255
Colin Riordan:	'Den Amis in Hollywood ein für allemal das Lebenslichtlein ausblasen!' Aspects of text and film in the late 1990s	269
David Barnett:	Access denied. Werner Schwab, the explosion of character and the collapse of the play-within-a-play	281
Carsten Rohde:	German Pop Literature: Rolf Dieter Brinkmann and what came after	295
	Select Bibliography of Secondary Works	309
	Index	313
	Notes on Contributors	319