

Contents

Preface ix
Chronology xi

Introduction 1

PART ONE

SPOKEN NEWS

1. Why News?—The Thursty Desyer That All Our Kynde Hath to Know 7
The Need for News—A Social Sense 9
The Urge to Tell 13
2. News in Preliterate Societies—In the Ordinary Way 16
“Human Wireless Telegraphy” 18
The Amplification of News—Messengers, Criers and Minstrels 20
Newsworthiness 24
The Edge of the World 29
3. The Survival of Spoken News—Publishing the Whisper of the Day 32
Coffeehouses and Nouvellistes 33
The Decline of Spoken News 37

PART TWO

WRITTEN NEWS

4. News and Literacy—The First Story That Comes to Hand 43
The Demands of News 45
News and History 47
5. News and Empire—The Thought Stream of the Group Mind 50
News of Rome 53
News Through China 59
News Across Europe 61
“Cosmopolitan Commerce” 64

PART THREE

PRINTED NEWS

- | | |
|---|------------|
| 6. Controlling the News—The Undeceiving of the People | 71 |
| News Management and Manipulation—The Newsbook | 77 |
| Press Controls | 80 |
| A Fear of Controversy | 82 |
| Chauvinism—The News Ballad | 84 |
| 7. Human Interests (Faits Divers)—Such a Deal of Wonder | 90 |
| Published Gossip | 92 |
| News of Crime | 96 |
| Sensationalism | 100 |
| Moralizing | 104 |
| The Supernatural | 107 |
| “Popular” Journalism | 112 |
| 8. The Logic of News (Faits Isolés)—People Biting Dogs | 116 |
| The Extraordinary | 118 |
| The Conventional | 120 |
| The Unexpected | 124 |

PART FOUR

NEWSPAPERS

- | | |
|---|------------|
| 9. The First Newspapers—Expecting the News | 131 |
| News in Venice—The Gazette | 133 |
| News from Amsterdam—The Coranto | 139 |
| An Editor in London | 143 |
| 10. The Power of the Periodical—Domesticating News | 147 |
| Home News—The Breadth of the Newspaper | 148 |
| News of Science—The Authority of the Newspaper | 152 |
| News of Business—The Speed of the Newspaper | 157 |
| 11. News and Revolution—A Junction of All the People | 162 |
| The American Revolution | 164 |
| The French Revolution | 173 |
| A Free Press | 178 |
| 12. Mass Circulation—For All | 183 |
| The Penny Press and Newspaper Ownership | 184 |
| Other Voices | 189 |
| The New Journalism and Consolidation | 194 |
| Tabloids and Corporations | 198 |

PART FIVE

REPORTING

-
- 13. Before Reporting—No Data by Which We Can Correctly Reason 205
The Haze 207
The Print Shop 211
- 14. The Development of Reporting—The Journalistic Method 214
Enterprise 217
Observation 219
Investigation—The World Asked to Explain Itself 228
Veneration of the Fact 239
Objectivity 251
Control of the News 259
-

PART SIX

ELECTRONIC NEWS

- 15. New Technologies—Improved Means to an Unimproved End 265
Radio—An Electronic Meeting Place 268
Television—The Distant Newsmonger 273
- 16. The Information Explosion—A Surfeit of Data 287
Publicity 290
The Weight of the Present—News, Rumors and Ideas 292
The Future of News 294
- Endnotes 301
Bibliography 330
Credits 343
Index 344