

Contents

INTRODUCTION VII

1. Arab Women's Literary History 1

Critical Response 2

The Gulf War Story 6

Gendering the Gulf War Story 13

The Iraqi Version 18

Migrating Stories 22

Conclusion 27

2. In Search of Mother Tongues 29

Assia Djebar's Prisonhouse 30

Albert Memmi's Struggles with His Mother 36

Abdelkebir Khatibi's Bi-langue 39

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Jacques Derrida: "Le Petit Juif Français d'Algérie" | 42         |
| Conclusion  | 48         |
| 3. Reviewing Beginnings                      | 53  |
| Islamic Feminism                                    | 55         |
| Assia Djebar  | 64         |
| Fatima Mernissi                                     | 70         |
| Nawal El Saadawi                                    | 75         |
| Conclusion  | 80         |
| 4. A Muslim Sister                           | 83  |
| Zaynab al-Ghazali's Muslim Ladies' Association      | 86         |
| Survival in Hell                                    | 92         |
| Signs Taken for Wonders                             | 95         |
| An Islamic Feminist Mission                         | 99         |
| Conclusion  | 103        |
| 5. Multiple Critique                         | 107 |
| Critical Networking                                 | 113        |
| Imageness   | 125        |
| The Weight of the Veil                              | 130        |
| Conclusion  | 136        |
| 6. Changing the Subject                      | 139 |
| Academic Politics                                   | 146        |
|   |            |
| CONCLUSION  | 151        |
| WORKS CITED   | 157        |
| PERMISSIONS   | 167        |
| INDEX   | 169        |