

Contents

Preface	9
Acknowledgments	11
1 Introduction: The Artist as Victim	15
Part I: Nabokov
2 Nabokov's Texts: Authors vs. Editors	33
3 Lolita : The Pursuit of Text	52
4 Pale Fire : The Reader's Possession of the Text	67
5 Ada : The Texture of Incest	83
Part II: Barthelme
6 Barthelme: The Essential Contradiction	101
7 Barthelme's Short Stories: Ironic Suspensions of Text	113
8 Snow White : The Suppression of Text	131
9 The Dead Father : The Turning Down of Perspective	149
Part III: Kosinski
10 Kosinski's Early Fiction: The Problem of Language	167
11 Steps : Acts of Demystification	183
12 Cockpit : Games and the Expansion of Perception	198
13 Blind Date : The Resurgence of Relationships	214
14 Conclusion: Strategies of Murder	228
Notes	239
Bibliography	251
Index	257