

Contents

Preface v

1 The Nature and Scope of Environmental Psychology 1

What Is Environmental Psychology? 2

Environmental Psychology through Time 4

Traditional Personality Dimensions and Behavior-Environment Relations 91

Environmental Psychology's Personality Dimensions and Behavior-Environment Relations 95

The Uses of Personality in Environmental Design 97

Part Two Social Processes 101

Part One Individual Processes 17

2 Environmental Perception and Spatial Cognition 19

Environmental Perception 21

Spatial Cognition 30

3 Appraising and Assessing Places 48

Environmental Appraisals: Personal Impressions of Places 50

Environmental Assessment: Collective Impressions of Places 65

4 Personality and Environment 76

Apologia, Background, and Current Situation 77

Environmental Personality Assessment 83

5 Personal Space 103

What Is Personal Space? 104

Measuring Personal Space 108

Influences on Personal Space 112

Personal Space and Human Behavior 118

Theories of Personal Space 122

Personal Space and Environmental Design 128

6 Territoriality 135

What Is Territoriality? 137

Measuring Territoriality 140

Influences on Territoriality 143

Territoriality and Human Behavior 148

Theories of Territoriality 153

Territoriality and Environmental Design 157

7	Crowding	161
	What Is Crowding?	162
	Influences on Crowding	169
	High Density and Human Behavior	178
	Theories of Crowding	187
	Crowding and Environmental Design	193

8	Privacy	197
	What Is Privacy?	199
	Measuring Privacy	200
	Influences on Privacy	201
	Privacy and Human Behavior	209
	Theories of Privacy	215
	Privacy and Environmental Design	218

Part Three
Societal Processes 225

9	Thriving and Surviving at Home and in the City	227
	Environmental Psychology in the Residence	228
	Environmental Psychology in the Community	241
	Natural and Technological Hazards to the Home	250
	Home, Community, and Environmental Design	258

10	Learning and the Physical Environment	265
	The Setting as a Whole	269
	Noise	272
	Light and Color	275
	Climate	278
	Space	279

	Environmental Competence	292
	Learning and Environmental Design	298

11	Working and Traveling	301
	Getting There	304
	Environmental Psychology on the Job	308
	Travel: Getting Away to a New Environment	331
	Work, Travel, and Environmental Design	335

12	Designing More Fitting Environments	340
	Social Design	342
	Social Research in the Design Process	347
	Stages in the Design Process	355
	Four Postoccupancy Evaluations	370

13	Managing the Commons	377
	What Is the Commons?	379
	Research Strategies	383
	What Promotes Public Interest Resource Management?	384
	Theories of Social Dilemmas	392
	Pollution: A Social Dilemma	396
	Energy Conservation: A Social Dilemma	404
	Recycling: A Social Dilemma	410

Epilog: Utopia versus Entopia 415

Appendix: Publications and Organizations 418

References	421
Name Index	456
Subject Index	466