

CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
Part I The Rise of Coal Consciousness: Coal, State, and Imperial Defence
2	Investigating the Coal Question	13
3	From Coal Consciousness to Coal Consensus	39
Part II ‘An Enormous System Under Splendid Control’: The Development of a Coaling Infrastructure
4	Sourcing Coal for the Navy	67
5	Managing the Navy’s Imperial Supply	101
Part III Coaling Labour
6	“Gifted with Strength that Is not Human”: Using Indigenous Labour for Coaling	131

7	“A Shadow Would Come Over the Ship”: Using Naval Labour for Coaling	159
---	--	-----

Part IV Sojourning at the Coaling Station

8	A Maritime Community?	185
---	-----------------------	-----

9	Exploring the Station	221
---	-----------------------	-----

10	Epilogue	253
----	----------	-----

	Appendix A	263
--	------------	-----

	Bibliography	265
--	--------------	-----

	Index	283
--	-------	-----