

CONTENTS

1 Introduction	1
Alzheimer's Disease and Narrative Theory: Is 'Narrating Dementia' an Oxymoron?	7
Conscientious Criticism: Mapping My Reading of Dementia	12
Life-Writing	19
Sifting Dementia Narratives
2 Of Wives and Daughters: Stereotypes of the Caring Female?	23
The Lost Identity: Alzheimer's Disease, Adult Children and the Past	27
Times Are Changing: 'Mothers' and Lovers	33
Perceived Caregiver Burden and Patient Identity Condition Each Other	40
3 From a 'Care-Free' Distance: Sons Talking About Cultural Concepts	49
Body and Mind: The Patient as Object	53
Alzheimer's and Aging: The Patient as Subject	62
Historical, Cultural and Personal Context Influence Attitudes to Dementia	68

4 About Tradition and Triumph: Patients Popularise Dementia Narrative	75
Tradition Sells: The Journey into Darkness	78
Form and Contents: Narrating Alzheimer's versus 'Account-Ability'	83
Collaborative Writing Meets Societal Norms and Political Intentions	91
5 On Reclaiming Authority: The Enabling Discourse of Alzheimer's Disease	95
Times Are Changing II: Patient Activism	98
Identity within Dementia: The Patient as Postmodern Prophet?	103
The Patient's World Advises Caregiver and Society	110
6 Conclusion	117
Alzheimer's Disease Narratives Today: New Media, Germane Stories	119
Stories of Dementia: Pedagogical, Political, Representative	128
Bibliography of Dementia Narratives	133
Works Cited	141
Index	157