

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
Introduction	3
I The Remnant of the Mythical	3
II 'The Second Blow'	12
III Problems of Knowledge	19
Part I Darwin's Language
1 'Pleasure Like a Tragedy': Imagination and the Material World	29
2 Fit and Misfitting: Anthropomorphism and the Natural Order	49
Part II Darwin's Plots
3 Analogy, Metaphor and Narrative in The Origin	79
4 Darwinian Myths	104
I Growth and its Myths	104
II Growth and Transformation	106
III Transformation, Retrogression, Extinction: Darwinian Romance	123

Part III Responses: George Eliot and Thomas Hardy

5 George Eliot: Middlemarch	149
I The Vital Influence	149
II Structure and Hypothesis	158
III The Web of Affinities	167
6 George Eliot: Daniel Deronda and the Idea of a Future Life	181
7 Descent and Sexual Selection: Women in Narrative	210
8 Finding a Scale for the Human: Plot and Writing in Hardy's Novels	236
Notes	261
Select Bibliography of Primary Works	289
Index	297