

Contents

Acknowledgments vii

Introduction – Estranging the Map: On Literature and Cartography 1
Anders Engberg-Pedersen

I THEORIES AND METHODOLOGIES 19

1 Cartographic Fiction 21
Jean-Marc Besse

2 Literary Cartography: Mapping as Method 45
Barbara Piatti

3 The (Un)Mappability of Literature 73
Robert Stockhammer

4 Cartographic Tropes: From Kant's Maps to Foucault's Topology 99
Oliver Simons

5 The Language of Cartography: Borges as Mapmaker 119
Bruno Bosteels

II HISTORIES AND CONTEXTS 141

6 Muses of Cartography: Charting Odysseus from Homer to Joyce 143
Burkhardt Wolf

7 Diagrammatic Thought in Medieval Literature 173
Simone Pinet

8 Hybrid Maps: Cartography and Literature in Spanish Imperial Expansion,
Sixteenth Century 199
Ricardo Padrón

9 Bend of the Baroque: Toward a Literary Hydrography in France 219
Tom Conley

10	Goethe and the Cartographic Representation of Nature around 1800	253
	John K. Noyes
11	Conceptualizing the Novel Map: Nineteenth-Century French Literary Cartography	279
	Patrick M. Bray
12	African Cartographies in Motion	299
	Dominic Thomas
III	GENRES AND THEMES	323
13	Popular Map Genres in American Literature	325
	Martin Brückner
14	Map Line Narratives	361
	Jörg Dünne
15	Material Cartography: João Guimarães Rosa's Paratexts	391
	Clara Rowland
16	Cartographies of War: Star Charts, Topographic Maps, War Games	411
	Anders Engberg-Pedersen
	Conclusion	443
	Contributors	453
	Index	459