

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	1
 TOMO CHEEKI, THE CREEK INDIAN IN PHILADELPHIA	 17
Tomo Cheeki, the Creek Indian in Philadelphia ...	19
I. Reflexions on my first entering the great city of the white men	22
II. (Written about midnight)	25
III. A piece written in the night--to which is added a short dream--	29
IV. Consolotary advice to my brother NANTOUNAWAW (of the embassy) who had applied to be made a member of a Philosophical Society	33
IV. <sic> (Containing certain Indian Notions and Reflexions)	36
V.	39
VI. To Hopiniyahie , an Indian Woman on the South side of the river O-conee	42
VII. A short talk on DRUNKENNESS	46
VIII. A dream in a dark night of the hunting moon	49
VIII. (Continued from No. 18)	53
IX. To the BIG LOOM, a White Man of this Village	58
X. (Continued from No. 24)	65
XI.	69
XII.	73
XIII. <Supposed to have been written about the time of some expedition against the Western Indians>	78
XV. <sic> To OPAY-MEEKO--(the old man of the lake) in the Creek country	83
 APPENDIX	 87
The Splenetic Indian	89
The Voyage of Timberoo-Tabo-Eede , an Otaheite Indian. Copied from the Hieroglyphical Records of that distant nation	96
 TEXTUAL NOTES	 109
 BIBLIOGRAPHY	 123