

Contents

Acknowledgements x1

Introduction 1

PART 1

Marxist Poetics in Context

- 1 Why Marxism and Style? 13
  - 1 The Concept of Style 13
  - 2 Epochal Political Conjuncture: Western Marxism and Beyond 17
  - 3 Intellectual Context: the British Anomaly 20
  - 4 Internal Debates: Types of Marxist Criticism 27

- 2 From State Censorship to the Poetry of the Future: Style in the Marxist Tradition 30
  - 1 An Overview of Marx's Early Writings 30
  - 2 Style in Aristotle's Rhetoric 34
  - 3 The Young Marx on Style and Censorship 37
  - 4 Marx After Buffon and Fichte 39
  - 5 Style and the Philosophy of History 43
  - 6 The End of Style? 45

- 3 Mimesis from Plato to Ricoeur 49
  - 1 Mimesis in Plato and Aristotle 50
  - 2 On the Threefold Mimesis 52
  - 3 Historicising the Threefold Mimesis 56
    - 3.1 Mimesis<sub>1</sub>: Prefiguration 56
    - 3.2 Mimesis<sub>2</sub>: Configuration 59
    - 3.3 Mimesis<sub>3</sub>: Refiguration 61
  - Conclusion 62

PART 2

Theories of Style in Williams, Eagleton and Jameson

Overture: Patricide; or, Reformism Versus Revolution 67

Eagleton Contra Williams 67

Williams Strikes Back 70

4 Style in Prose Fiction: A Preliminary Definition 75

1 Style as a Social Relationship 75

1.1 Abstract Universal Style versus Particular Style 79

1.2 Prose Settled and Unsettled 81

1.3 Williams's Theory of Prose: A Balance-Sheet 84

2 Narratology, Voice and Style 86

3 A First Definition of Style in Prose Fiction 92

4 Possible Elaborations 95

5 Raymond Williams: Style between Immanence and Naturalism 97

1 On Williams and Immanence 98

1.1 Keywords 100

1.2 Language as 'Practical Consciousness' 105

1.3 Forms, Techniques and Technology 110

1.4 Sociological Perspectivism 115

2 Williams's Multiple Approaches to the Problem of Style 117

2.1 Language in Naturalist Drama; or, the Relation of 'Structure of Feeling' and Style 117

2.2 Historical Temporality and Stylistic Inheritance: Against the Ideology of Modernism 121

2.3 Stylistic Integration 129

2.4 Transindividual Subjectivity: Style and 'Total Expression' 135

2.5 Style and Cultural Materialism 138

Conclusion 140

Intermezzo: Style and the Meaning of 'Politics' and 'Culture' 143

Eagleton Contra Jameson 143

Jameson's Reply 145

6 Terry Eagleton: The Political Theology of Style 148

1 The Body as Language 148

2 Leavis 2.0? 152

3 The Close Reading of Styles 158

4	The Problems of Stylistic Ideals	161
5	Tragic Styles	164
7	Fredric Jameson: Epic Poet of Postmodernity	170
1	Narrative and Praxis	170
2	Jameson as Epic Poet of Postmodernity	173
3	Jameson, the Epic Contemplator?	178
4	Style and Modernity	183
	4.1 Rhetoric versus Style	184
	4.2 The Extinction of the Narrative Categories of Experience	192
	4.3 Narrative versus Style	194
	4.4 The Utopian Vocation of Style	197
5	Postmodernity and the End of Style	199
6	Jameson's Theory of Style: A Balance-Sheet	200
	Coda: New Styles for New Social Relations	204

PART 3

Style in Marxist Poetics

8	A General Marxist Theory of Style	209
1	Mimesis <sub>1</sub>	209
	1.1 Linguistic Situation	209
	1.2 Linguistic Ideology	219
	1.3 Experience	221
2	Mimesis <sub>2</sub>	222
	2.1 Poetic Shaping	222
	2.2 Stylistic Ideology	225
	2.3 Directionality	228
	2.4 Modes, Types, Genres, Forms	229
	2.5 Lyric	231
	2.6 Drama	233
	2.7 The Pain and Joy of Writing	237
3	Mimesis <sub>3</sub>	239
	3.1 Literal Phase: Micro-Structures of Feeling	242
	3.2 Identification Phase: Instance, Idiom, Interpellation	243
	3.3 Formal Phase: From Form to Formation	246
	3.4 Generic Phase: Projects and Modes	250
	3.5 Utopian Phase	255
4	Poiēsis and Praxis	256

Conclusion 258

Bibliography 263

Name Index 275

Subject Index 278