	Introduction	1
	Background	1
	Overview	3
1	Relational Derivation	6
1.1	Relations between Words	7
1.2	Problems	29
1.3	A Fully Bottom-up Relational Theory	35
1.4	Conclusion	47
2	Types of Lexical Projections and Arguments	49
2.1	Types of Lexical Projections	49
2.2	Types of Arguments	59
2.3	Relational Derivation Refined: Selection of Lexical Subarrays	76
2.4	Limiting Accessibility: The RPIC Revisited	80
2.5	Conclusion	92
3	Modification	93
3.1	Adverbial Modification	93
3.2	Adjectival Modification	121
3.3	Conclusion	127
4	Variation in Word Order	128
4.1	Word Order Variation in n-projections: Cinque's Derivation of Greenberg's Universal 20 and its Exceptions	128
4.2	Word Order Variation in v-projections	148
4.3	Universals of Word Order	174
5	The Role of Morphology	178
5.1	Morphological Alternation	178
5.2	Thematic Argument Selection	181

5.3	Athematic Argument Selection (1): Structural Nominative Case and Subject–Verb Agreement	184
5.4	Athematic Argument Selection (2): Structural Accusative Case	201
5.5	Conclusion	212
6	Operators	213
6.1	Lexical Projection: Auxiliary Inversion and do-support	213
6.2	wh-selection	221
6.3	Island Effects	241
6.4	Conclusion	255
7	Ellipsis	256
7.1	The Standard Theory of Ellipsis	256
7.2	Why Pseudogapping and VPE Should be Formulated in Relational Terms	257
7.3	Gapping	260
7.4	Sluicing	262
7.5	Focus Sluicing	264
7.6	Syntactic Parallelism	265
7.7	Voice Mismatches in VPE	266
7.8	Some Apparent Counterexamples	269
7.9	Conclusion	276
