

Table of Contents

A Word from the Author	vii
A Word from the Translator (Japanese to Korean)	xxii
A Note from the Translator (Korean to English)	xxiv
Preface	xxvi
1. What Is Confucianism?	1
2. Did Gija Joseon Really Exist?	21
3. Confucianism in the Three Kingdoms Period	34
4. Confucianism in the Late Silla Period	52
5. Goryeo, the Land of Buddhism	71
6. Seongjong Elevates Confucianism	88
7. The National University and Twelve Private Schools	105
8. Is the Period of Military Regime the Dark Age?	125
9. The Learning of Master Zhu Comes to Korea from Yuan China	142
10. Transition in Dynasty, from Goryeo to Joseon	165
11. Jeong Do-jeon and Gwon Geun as the Two Greatest Masters of the Confucian Nation	183
12. Bureaucrats Armed with the Learning of Master Zhu	205
13. Sejong and Sejo, Kings of Achievements	228
14. The Sarim Faction Emerges and Literati Purges Continue	255
15. Dispute on the Study of the Principle of Human Nature Shakes the Political and Scholastic World	280
16. Situation in East Asia Becomes Chaotic Again	309
17. Is Sino-Centrism Truly Justified?	338
18. Practical Learning Blooms during the Reigns of Enlightened Rulers Yeongjo and Jeongjo	366
19. The World Is Changing	411
20. Closed Kingdom to Open Kingdom	448
21. At the Crossroads of Conservatism and Modernization	474
Index	500