

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	19
The aims of the futures study	19
Methodology	20
The approach adopted	22
Scope of the study	24

PART I

RETROSPECTIVE VIEW OF THE SAHEL: FROM ANCIENT EMPIRES TO THE PRESENT CRISIS

INTRODUCTION TO THE RETROSPECTIVE VIEW	29
Chapter 1. THE SAHEL FROM IMPERIAL TIMES TO THE EVE OF COLONIZATION	31
Fragmentation of the power base	31
Highly structured societies	32
Rural societies	33
The role of foreign trade	35
The slow and difficult advance of Islam	35
19th century attempts to restore extensive power bases	36
Chapter 2. THE COLONIAL PERIOD	39
Development of potential	39
The slow development of food production	40
Urban growth and incipient industrialization	41
The destructuring of traditional societies	42
The emergence of new values	43
The birth of a new political class	44
Chapter 3. POPULATION TRENDS SINCE 1960	47
Population growth	47
Geographic distribution	48
Urbanization	49

Chapter 4.	THE DEVELOPMENT OF AGRICULTURE SINCE 1960	51
	Climate	51
	The rise in food dependence	52
	Export crops: cotton	54
	Export crops: groundnuts	55
	Livestock activities	56
	Fisheries	58
Chapter 5.	THE DISRUPTION OF THE ECOLOGICAL BALANCE	59
	Production systems and the environment	59
	The advance of the desert	60
	Desertification from within	60
Chapter 6.	INDUSTRY, SERVICES AND THE INFORMAL SECTOR	63
	The trends in manufacturing industries	63
	Obstacles to industrialization	64
	Energy	66
	The mining industry	67
	Services and the informal sector	68
	Secondary and tertiary sectors overall	69
Chapter 7.	OVERALL ECONOMIC TRENDS	71
	The public sector	71
	The contradictions of the economy	72
	International aid	73
	External indebtedness	74
	Structural adjustment	76
	An increasingly dependent economy	76
	A disjointed economy	78
Chapter 8.	THE DESTRUCTURING OF RURAL SOCIETY	81
	Permanent features of Sahelian societies	81
	The end of isolation	81
	Rethinking the distribution of roles	82
	Questioning the natural order of things	83
	The feeling of alienation	83
	Introversion or flight	84
	The emergence of new dynamism	85

Chapter 9.	THE INCREASED IMPORTANCE OF URBAN SOCIETY	87
	An increasingly autonomous society	87
	A society of young people	88
	The role of women	89
	The quest for survival	89

Chapter 10.	DEVELOPMENTS IN THE POWER BASE	91
	From colonization to independence	91
	From independence to the present day	92
	The priorities of those in power	93
	Ambitious leaders	95
	Calls for unanimity and power in a vacuum	95
	Recent development	97

Chapter 11.	CONCLUSION: SOCIETIES IN CRISIS	99
--------------------	---------------------------------------	----

PART II

THE TREND SCENARIO: ECONOMIC STAGNATION AND INCREASING DEPENDENCE

INTRODUCTION TO THE TREND SCENARIO	107
--	-----

Chapter 12.	THE EVOLUTION OF SOCIETY AS A PRODUCT OF TENSIONS	109
	What is new about the Sahel crisis?	109
	What elements make up the Sahelian crisis?	110
	The interplay of internal tensions	111
	Structural analysis of the Sahelian system	112
	General outline of the approach adopted for the Futures Study	115
	The driving variables	117
	Constructing the trend scenario	119

Chapter 13.	THE SAHELIAN ENVIRONMENT: TOMORROW'S CLIMATE	121
	Recent climatic trends in a long-term perspective	121
	Tomorrow's climate	123
	Will climate play a decisive role in the Sahel?	124

Chapter 14.	THE SAHELIAN ENVIRONMENT: TOMORROW'S WORLD	127
	The Sahel's position in worldwide geopolitical and geo-economic interplay	127
	External financing	130
	The impact of technologies	131
	The immediate environment: the Arab world and the humid zone	133
Chapter 15.	VALUES AND MENTALITIES: SAHELIAN CULTURE IN THE FUTURE	137
	A set of hypotheses	137
	What are the consequences for the Sahel?	140
	Development will be turbulent	141
Chapter 16.	THE FUTURE SHAPE OF POWER	143
	Variation N°1 on the trend scenario: regimes that are neither wholly military nor wholly civilian	143
	Variation N°2 on the trend scenario: "South-Americanization"	145
	Contrasting scenarios	145
	The rise of local power: rural power groups	147
	The rise of local power: urban power groups	148
	Turbulent development?	149
Chapter 17.	POPULATION	151
	Fertility	151
	Mortality	153
	Emigration to non-Sahelian countries	154
	The population of 2010	155
	Urbanization	157
Chapter 18.	THE RURAL WORLD TOMORROW	161
	World trends in agriculture	161
	The Sahel in the world context	163
	Technical progress and Sahelian agriculture	164
	The future role of biotechnology	166
	The trend scenario for food crops	168
	The trend scenario for export agriculture	170
	The trend scenario for livestock production	171
	Ecological disaster or the beginnings of recovery?	173
	The trend scenario in rural areas: change and continuity	174

Chapter 19.	THE INDUSTRIES OF THE FUTURE	175
	Principal worldwide industrial trends	175
	Sahelian industry within that context	177
	The informal sector	180
Chapter 20.	THE TREND SCENARIO: COHERENT, PROBABLE AND LEADING TO TENSION	183
	A coherent scenario	183
	A probable scenario	186
	A scenario of accumulating tensions	187
	Limited adaptation that does not solve fundamental problems ..	188
Chapter 21.	LESS FAVORABLE SCENARIOS	191
	The accentuated-drought scenario	191
	The Aids-explosion scenario	192
	The reduced foreign aid scenario	193
	Scenarios that bring into question the current role of the state	193
Chapter 22.	CONCLUSION: IS THE PRESENT TRENDS SCENARIO ACCEPTABLE?	195
	Increased restrictions	195
	A difficult future	196
	Which way out?	197

PART III

LOOKING AT POSSIBILITIES FOR THE FUTURE

INTRODUCTION TO POSSIBILITIES FOR THE FUTURE	201
Chapter 23.	POSSIBLE SCENARIOS	203
	Auto-centered development scenarios	203
	Scenarios based on integration in the world market system ...	206
	Mixed scenarios	208
	Can these scenarios materialize?	209

Chapter 24.	THE ROLE OF THE GOVERNMENT AND THE NON- GOVERNMENTAL SECTOR IN BUILDING A BETTER FUTURE	211
	A new balance between the government and the non-governmental sector	211
	Local communities in rural areas	213
	Communities in urban areas	215
	The role of the State	215
Chapter 25.	PREREQUISITES FOR ROLE CHANGES	219
	Awareness of the implications	219
	Democratization and national consensus	221
Chapter 26.	ROLE CHANGES AND POLICY CHANGES	223
	The rural framework	223
	The urban framework	225
	Food policies	227
	The relationships between Sahelian markets and international markets	229
Chapter 27.	FOREIGN AID	233
	Official development assistance	233
	Private aid	236
Chapter 28.	PREPARING THE FUTURE FOR THE NEXT GENERATION	239
	The formal education system	239
	The informal education system	240
	Population policy	242
FINAL CONCLUSIONS
Chapter 29.	CONDITIONS FOR FINDING A WAY OUT OF THE TREND SCENARIO	245
	Where is the way out?	245
	The actors and the system	246
	Topics for consideration by donors	248
	Topics for consideration by Sahelian elites	249
	Topics for consideration by Western countries and by the Sahelian elites	250
	Topics for consideration by NGOs	251
	Conclusion: no magic formula, but enough hope to mobilize efforts	252

ANNEXES

1. Summary of Proceedings of the 7th Club du Sahel Meeting, held at N'Djamena, 26-27 January, 1988 257
2. Regional Meeting of Experts from CILSS Member Countries on the Futures Study, Bobo-Dioulasso, 7-9 June, 1988 259
3. Bibliography 263