

CONTENTS

SUMMARY

1. THE AIMS AND APPROACH OF THE STUDY	15
Aims of the research	15
Voluntary work and its background	16
The scope for environmental initiatives	19
Research approach	21
Policy issues	22
Conclusions	24
2. THE NATURE OF VOLUNTARY WORK	25
The nature of volunteering	25
Ease of participation	26
Community service	27
Local initiatives	28
National voluntary organisations	29
Intermediaries and resource centres	31
Development trusts and community businesses	32
Conclusions	33
3. IMPACT ON THE ENVIRONMENT	35
The challenge of urban decay	36
The problem of urban sprawl	37

Demands for a better quality of life	38
The threat to the heritage	39
Need for jobs	41
Conclusions	42
4. THE ROLES VOLUNTARY GROUPS PLAY	43
Protesters and campaigners	43
Missionaries	44
Promoters and animateurs	45
Environmental managers	47
Developers	48
Conclusions	50
5. VOLUNTARY WORK AND EMPLOYMENT	51
Job satisfaction	51
Job creation	53
Preparation for employment	55
New work	56
Job replacement	58
Conclusions	59
6. STRENGTHS AND WEAKNESSES	61
Community involvement	61
Multiple benefits	62
Pioneers and innovators	63
Law overheads	64
Employment for the disadvantaged	65
Commitment	66
Freedom of expression	67
Vulnerability	67

Unrealistic objectives	68
Fragmentation	68
Amateurishness	69
7. CONCLUSIONS	71
Finding the right driving force	71
Forging a partnership between the community and authority	72
Tapping professional expertise	72
Showing early results	73
Exploiting the media	74
Having fun	74
Spreading the administrative load	75
Conclusions	76
8. THE EUROPEAN DIMENSION	77
Dissemination of good practice	78
9. SUGGESTIONS FOR THE EUROPEAN COMMISSION	81
Recognition	81
Funding	82
Technical assistance	85
APPENDIX A: List of national reports and case studies	87
APPENDIX B: Summary of selected case studies	93
B.1 Belgium: Working Party of Les Marolles, Brussels (CGAM)	94
B.2 Belgium: Association of the Central Canal, Wallonia	96

B.3	France: Community Association for the Development of Industrial Tourism, Le Creusot-Montceau-les-Mines	98
B.4	Germany: Working Party for the Protection of Amphibians and Reptiles in Dortmund, Dortmund (AGARD)	100
B.5	Germany: Women’s Organisation of Planners and Architects, (FOPA)	102
B.6	Italy: Woodland in the City, Milan	104
B.7	The Netherlands: The Ecological Cycle Foundation, Arnhem (EKS)	106
B.8	The Netherlands: The Lunetten Greenery Group Utrecht	108
B.9	UK: Pennine Heritage, Hebden Bridge	109
B.10	UK: Windmill Hill City Farm, Bristol	111
	APPENDIX C: Short reading list	113