

Contents

Preface	ix
1. 'Hidden Lives': the problems of women's autobiography	i
2. Fragments, Apologies, Memoirs, True Relations: women's autobiography before 1800	28
3. 'At five I supposed myself a heroine': autobiographies of childhood	50
4. Recollections of a Literary Life: novelists as autobiographers	75
5. Controversial Women	103
'the manners of a gentlewoman': Mary Somerville	105
'no organised surface': Fanny Kemble and Ellen Terry	108
'the Duties of Women': Frances Power Cobbe and Annie Besant	120
'the need of utterance': Harriet Martineau	130
6. 'I must write what I think': into the twentieth century	137
Conclusion	163
Bibliography	169
Index	181